WE NOMINATE

Richard Pearson, the hard-driving and highly imaginative President of the College Entrance Examination Board and a "prophet with honor" in his own community, whose leadership of Princeton Township's School Board was frequently and dramatically underscored at Tuesday evening's PTA-sponsored joint meeting of the Township and Borough Boards. To the 43-year old Pearson, Township President for three successive one-year terms (1962-65) and a six-year Board veteran until he opted not to run for re-election, belongs a large share of the credit for what appears to be the inexorable, carefully studied and long-delayed surge toward the consolidation of the Borough and Township Schools.

Over the years this publication has received literally 100's of "nominations" for recognition; seldom in some two decades, however, have the Editors welcomed as many communications as have come vis-a-vis Pearson, a full-time Princetonian since 1952. One spoke in this manner: "I don't have to tell you of the changes in the Township school situation in these six years—the growth, coping with the building program, developing a curriculum better than the one before, breaking in a new superintendent. He has been almost an ideal president, firm, outspoken, but genial and smiling even with those who beg hostile questions as was the case a couple of years back with the budget hearings."

From another, the father of four Township students, came a thoughtfully documented 9-point program chronicling the achievements of the Township Board during Pearson's tenure. These "points" ranged from the "completion of the building and staffing of Community Park School" and the "completion of Riverside and Littlebrook School building eypansions" to the "appointment of the Citizens' Advisory Committee on Long-Range Planning which recommended a unified Township-Borough School System" and the "inauguration of the LAUNCH Program to help those students who are not as ready to begin reading instruction as their peers."

Pearson's own "philosophy of education," which has been woven into the conception of a unified Township-Borough school system, was effectively capsuled in his newly published initial report as College Board President. The American educational system, he stresses, has "built a substantial record of response to valid innovation." One of its hallmarks, as he sees it, is "its capacity to generate change: to respond in relevant ways to new circumstances within society, the economy and the world around us. The dynamics of change have become an integral part of the development of education in the United States."

A native of New York City, a member of the Yale Class of 1942 and a World War II non-commissioned officer with responsibilities for developing testing programs for the Army and Air Force, Pearson in 1956 was catapaulted from Educational Testing Service to the executive vice-presidency of the College Board. Just about 13 months ago (February 4, 1964) he was unanimously elected successor to the great Frank Bowles, an architect of the present-day system of college admissions, as chief executive for a nation-wide operation that blinks not twice at administering the same test to 1,100,000 students in 14,000 schools.

For, in the words of an associate, "the breadth of his vision and the force of his leadership"; for understanding that educational needs stretch far beyond the squint-focus of the present; for his dedication to tasks voluntarily assumed; he is our nominee as

WE FAVOR MERGER

Both School Boards Report. Borough and Township School Boards announced publicly Tuesday night that they are in favor of a merged Borough-Township school system.

Before an audience which filled the lower floor of the high school auditorium, Graham Rohrer, president of the Borough Board, said:

"The Princeton Borough and the Princeton Township Boards of Education deem it advisable to seek unification of the two systems, to become effective not later than July 1, 1966."

Both Boards would like to see a referendum this fall—preferably in September—"unless the findings of the Joint Committee on Municipal Operations indicate that complete municipal consolidation is feasible by July 1, 1966."

The Boards recommend using the machinery of the Reorganization Law, and will work together to obtain authorization from the State Department of Education to hold the referendum.

We Agree. The two Boards were joined in their recommendation by a statement from both superintendents: Chester A. Stroup for the Borough and John J. McKenna Jr. for the Township.

"Our own intimate knowledge of our respective school systems and communities," the superintendents said, "leads us to believe that a merger at this time would be in the best interests of the entire Princeton Community. We feel that such a union would ensure an even more effective public education in the years to come for all the children of Princeton."

The two Boards made, on Tuesday night, a six-part presentation lasting one hour and 45 minutes. Five members of the two Boards, joined by Richard Pearson, who served as Township Board president until his term expired in February (see "Man of the Week,") described in the most minute detail the Joint School Study that has occupied their time and thoughts since the spring of 1963.

The entire presentation was made through oral reports and charts projected on a screen. The written report will not be available until April 1.

Highlights:

Financial (presented by George Grace, Township Board president): Regionalization would mean no significant cost change for either Borough or Township: If the Township pulled its children out of the high school, the withdrawal would be costly for the Borough, and sending districts would find tuition leaping to $1,031 a year per child.

If the Township built its own high school, Township taxpayers would pay about $183,000 more a year than the present high school tuition, or about $455 more a year on a $30,000 house.

A portentous note: regionalization is fair to both Borough and Township, but under consolidation, the Borough would suffer financially.

Elementary Education. (Mrs. Jess Epstein, Township Board): Similarities between the two systems are greater than differences. Teacher salary scales are identical, teacher qualifications almost so. The systems have similar policies on class size, texts and special services, plus identical—and most unusual—grade organization: kindergarten through eight, with departmentalized seventh and eighth grades.

The most significant difference, perhaps, is in the junior high: the Township's is big-time with more course, more flexibility and a more diversified staff than the Borough's.

High school education: (Robert Lively, Borough Board). "We live in one intellectual community," said Mr. Lively. "Children from Borough and Township homes have potentials and needs different from those of children in other sending districts."

Princeton High was 1742 youngsters: 350 from the Borough, 647 from the Township, 745 from the other five districts. In survey after survey, Borough and Township pupils together, stand apart from their sending district colleagues. Sample:

In the Borough, 52% of the others are professionals; in the Township, 61%; in the sending districts, 22%. In the Borough 26% of the fathers didn't finish school; in the Township, 14%; in the sending districts, 47%.

In the high school's industrial arts and home economics classes, 20% of the students are from the Borough, 27% from the Township, 52% from the sending districts. On a national aptitude test, with a 50% national average, the median score for Borough ninth graders was 67%; Township, 90%; sending districts 70%.

Pointing to the small percentages of Borough and Township boys and girls who elect industrial arts courses, Mr. Lively suggested that any high school trying to go alone with such a small group of pupils would have a difficult time sustaining a strong vocational program.

Speaking for the Borough Board, Mr. Lively said, "Merger would guarantee the maintenance of the improvement of the high school we now have," adding that with merger, the Borough could attain at the junior high level, "the excellence that now eludes us."

Speaking for the Township Board, Mrs. Epstein said, "We believe a continuous kindergarten-through-12 system is best. The present situation is untenable: the Township, with twice as many high school youngsters as the Borough, pays almost half a million in tuition to the Borough, yet has no voice. The combined school population of Borough and Township would enable us to provide a broader school program for all children, academic or non-academic."

so to school?" (John A. Buckland, Borough Board):

Mr. Buckland emphasized that his plan was only a proposal, and that no present board could take any legal action to bind the new regional board that would take over following a "yes" referendum vote.

"We want integration in spirit and fact," Mr. Buckland said, and his entire presentation focused on a truly integrated system, not a mere "busing back and forth of Negro children."

In the merged system according to Mr. Buckland's suggestions, all seventh and eighth graders would be in the new John Witherspoon School on Walnut Lane. Sixth graders would be divided between John Witherspoon and Valley Road "enough in both schools for some good sixth-grade sports."

All kindergarteners would walk, if possible. Community Park and Valley Road Schools would be considered a single unit with grades one through five.

Littlebrook would absorb all Borough children north of Nassau and east of Harrison, plus a busload of half the Borough residents who live in the John Street area and youngsters who live in the Mercer-Stockton area. Riverside would have the other half of the Borough's John Street children, plus Borough children south of Nassau and west of Harrison. And so on.

"It is not too complex a problem to solve equitably," Mr. Buckland said.

Questions. In the question period that followed, one resident observed the "sweetness and light atmosphere" and asked whether there were any disadvantages to merger.

"I call them 'considerations' rather than disadvantages," Mr. Rohrer replied. "Our 'Princeton plan' would change our new Witherspoon school. It would change from our original concept; a child might have to attend two to four schools in his 12-year career and of course, the Borough would eventually lose control."

(Regional Boards are based on population. At first, by 1960 census figures, it would be a 3-Borough, 4-Township Board, but after the 1970 census, it would unquestionably shift to a 5-Township, 4-Borough Board.)

And Mr. Buckland referred to such intangibles as the esprit among staff members of Nassau Street school.

Members of the audience were asked to write down their questions if there wasn't enough time to answer them all, but by the time John Valentine, moderator, had brought the meeting to a close at 10:15, everyone in the audience who wanted to speak had had his chance.

"The final decision," said Mr. Rohrer, "will be one of public consensus."

BUS STOP HERE?

One route withdrawn, Suburban Transit has withdrawn its request for a bus route from Princeton to Lawrenceville down Mercer Street and along the Princeton Pike.

"I traveled that route again Sunday, and that bridge (Stony Brook) is something we don't want to get involved with," the Suburban Transit representative told Township Committee Monday night. The Township is in hearty agreement.

The Borough's Traffic Safety Committee has approved Suburban's request for a bus route along Stockton Street (Route 206) because the company does not plan any new bus stops or any additional buses.

However, the Traffic Safety Committee does not recommend a bus route along Washington Road to Lightstown. "The additional traffic would only make Washington Road worse," commented Mayor Henry Patterson, in announcing the decision.

The mayor said, however, that the Borough Planning Board was planning to make a traffic study, and if the study showed that Washington Road is indeed a shuttle for Princeton-Lightstown commuters, then Suburban's request might be reconsidered.

Speaking before Township Committee Monday night, the Suburban Transit spokesman said that a bus route between Princeton and Lightstown would ease traffic by removing these commuter cars. He told Committee that West Windsor, North and South Brunswick, Ewing and Lawrence Townships had already approved Suburban's various plans and that East Windsor and Trenton were expected to.

Suburban, if granted its new routes, would not add any new buses, the spokesman said. It would merely adjust its schedules and reassign existing buses to the new routes.

"We'd expect to run one bus an hour on Washington Road between 7 a.m. and 8 or 9 p.m," he said. "There would be no stops on Washington."

Committee decided to turn the matter over to its own Traffic Safety Committee which is scheduled to meet March 18.

POST OFFICE ON AGENDA

Monday Night. The question of a post office building on North Harrison Street will be explored and discussed Monday at the March meeting of the Township Planning Board. The meeting will be held at 8 in the auditorium of Valley Road School.

The proposed new building would replace the present "annex" on University Place. The Palmer Square building would remain. Federal post office officials chose the North Harrison Street site after surveying several different plots of land. At present, the site is in a residential zone in the Township, and it would have to be zoned "commercial" in order to accomodate the new building.

A Post Office Committee of the Princeton Chamber of Commerce, under the chairmanship of R. L. Lenhart, has been working for about five years to obtain enlarged postal facilities for Princeton.

"The real beneficiary of a new post office would be the average mail user," Mr. Lenhart has stated. "As it is now, you can't park in Palmer Square to go to the post office, but you could park in the customer parking area of a new building on Harrison Street."

Petitions opposing erection of a post office on Harrison are on file with the Planning Board and many residents of the area object to the proposed building because the Harrison-Witherspoon-Valley section is almost the last remaining part of the Township where small homes can be built.

FIVE HOMES ENTERED

3 On Galbreath Drive. The relative recent calm in the continuing struggle that was waged throughout 1964 between Township Police and housebreakers ended abruptly last week with the report of five Township homes entered, three on Galbreath Drive.

Although there were some minor variances, the enterings, particularly on Galbreath Drive, bore noticeable similarities. In each instance, a rear door was forced. Once inside, the intruder headed for the master bedroom where he ransacked bureau drawers and vanity tables.

Valuables such as diamonds, cameras, TV sets and radios were left untouched. While contents of jewelry boxes were found strewn about, apparently none of the pieces were taken. "Whoever it was," said the police, of the three Galbreath burglaries, "was looking for money."

The date of entries of the Galbreath homes range from February 21 through Sunday. It appears, however that each was visited late Thursday night or early Friday morning. In every case, the occupants were away.

Homes entered were those of Merton D. Nason Jr., 129 Galbreath Drive; Sidney Blaxill, 41 Galbreath Drive; and Lester F. Eastman, 11 Galbreath Drive. In the latter home, two other bedrooms and a library were also ransacked. Three panes of glass were broken to open a French door at the rear of the Blaxill home.

Police said before they can determine what has been taken, they will have to wait until the owners take an inventory of their homes.

Brookstone, Too. The 101 Brookstone Drive residence of Frank Caplan received a more thorough going over.

After forcing the kitchen door with an iron bar, the thief ransacked the living room, a den-office and two bedrooms. Some 30 feet from the rear door, police found an attache case which has been smashed to get at its contents—in this instance, color slides which had been strewn about.

A Township patrol car discovered the entry Friday morning. Brookstone Drive is located on the other side of Rosedale, opposite Galbreath.

Between 6 a.m. and 6:30 p.m., someone forced his way into his home at 252 Snowden Lane, said owner Harold B. Churchill. Again entry was gained by prying open a rear door.

It is not known if anything was taken. According to Mr. Churchill, the study contains a cabinet filled with pewter pieces and is is possible, he said, one of the pieces is missing. He told police he will take an inventory when his wife returns from a vacation.

Boice Lumber Hit. Across the Township, DeWitt Boice Jr., owner of the Boice Lumber and Fuel Company, 316 Alexander Street, made a familiar call when he told police that one of his buildings had been entered.

Investigating, police said that a building on the northeast side of the yard, containing paints and tiles had been entered by forcing a large door with a bar. Mr. Boice, will take an inventory and report what is missing.

At the Hun School, the 15 minutes he spent taking a shower was long enough for someone is steal two pieces of jewelry from Stephen Shapiro, Room 217, Poe Hall Dormitory.

Mr. Shapiro said he left a gold automatic calendar watch, valued at $150, and a gold link ID bracelet under some clothes on his bed. When he returned, he said, they were gone. The theft took place between 12:45 and 1 p.m. Sunday.

ACQUIRE HARROP LAND

55 Acres in Township. The last of land next to Community Park on the north, owned by Mrs. Esther C. Harrop, has been acquired by Princeton for open space and recreation.

Acquisition of the 55-acre parcel was announced Monday night at Township Committee. As a protection for Mrs. Harrop's privacy, a buffer strip of 500 feet will be left "as is," with its extensive planting of trees; however, the Township retains the right to put an extension of Terhune through this strip some time, probably the distant future.

Cost of the land is $164,300. Half of this will be paid for by the state through "Green Acres" funds, and 30% of it by Federal money. The remaining 20% will be divided equally between Township and Borough. This means that each municipality will pay only $16,430 for a 55-acre parcel of land.

Two new protected school crossings have been added to the Township's list. They are Harrison and Sycamore, which will be manned by Mrs. Marie Hammond, and Prospect and Phillip Drive which will be patrolled by Ralph Snedeker. Peter S. Matticola was appointed to the Snowden and Abernathy post to fill a vacant school crossing position.

Henry J. Frank, 126 Valley Road, who has for years been a vigorous and outspoken opponent of public sidewalks, especially those which property owners themselves have to pay for, rose before Township Committee Monday night and urged construction of several sidewalk segments, paid for by property owners themselves, if necessary.

Mr. Frank, chairman of the Traffic Safety Committee, is disturbed because the 1965 Township budget does not provide for any sidewalks, and the safety committee believes that some sidewalks—designated by "Priority A."—are essential to safety, especially the safety of school children. He did not specify the sidewalks that his committee had in mind, except to say that most of them were segments connecting sidewalks already in existence.

In executive session, Committee discussed again the Leigh-Birch parking problem, but took no action. Committeemen want to explore in more depth the possibility of alternate side of the street parking, and they would like to see whether the lot on the corner of John and Birch could be purchased for off-street parking.

The amendment to the Joint Library agreement with the Borough was tabled pending a conference among William L. Wilson for the Township, Ellwood Godfrey for the Borough, the two administrators and Borough-Township attorney Gordon Griffin, on the question of whether interest as well as principal is involved in dividing library costs.

"This is just a mechanism," explained Committeeman Wilson. "It won't postpone construction of the library."

ONE MORE STEP

Toward Housing. Princeton's housing project for elderly citizens, almost forgotten in the passing of time, came back into the news this week with the announcement by Mayor Henry Patterson that the Federal Public Housing Authority has withdrawn one of the major stumbling blocks to construction of the project.

Federal officials approved the site last summer, but until now, they have insisted that the Borough put Spruce Street through at its own expense, before completion of the housing project.

Mayor Patterson, Mrs. Steven Slaby, executive director of the Princeton Housing Authority and Kenneth Wells, a member of the authority, conferred last week with Federal officials in New York and as a result of their meeting, the Spruce Street stipulation was removed.

The next step will be an authorization by the Federal authority to proceed with acquisition of the land. This authorization is expected within a week or two.

STEPAN STEPANOVITCH RAISES HIS GLASS: To toast the newly-engaged pair, of course. But a good bit of comic row occurs in "The Marriage Proposal" before that final champagne glass is raised. "Stepan" is Arthur Lithgow, who also directed the Chekhov comedy for McCarter's spring series.

News Of The THEATRES

TWO FOR LAUGHS

Moliere, Chekhov. What a delightful pair of capers McCarter has staged for its second spring comedy offering!

"The Marriage Proposal" by Chekhov and Moliere's "School for Wives" make a charming couple, their differences serving only to underscore what they have in common: a comic view of courtship, marriage and the difficulties men and women seem able to cook up for each other.

Vigorous Russian folk music, played on a balalaika, introduces us to Chekhov's country neighbors, and a graceful Rococo turn provides the musical introduction to the Moliere, each setting the mood nicely for the fun that is to follow.

The shorter Chekhov with its cast of three is the curtain-raiser. Here is Arthur Lithgow as Stephan Stepanovitch Tschubukov, the personification of the Russian landowner: a burly, sweating fellow, good of heart and filled with happiness at the thought of his daughter marrying his good neighbor, Ivan.

And here is Ivan, dressed in morning clothes and shivering with nervous chill although Stepan wipes the warmth of the day from his brow. Macintyre Dixon is a comic delight in this role, shaking and tense, so overcome with paroxysms of nervousness that one can almost feel his clammy hand.

He approaches Natalya, the strong-minded daughter whose hand he seeks, a hearty farm girl who speaks her mind. Saundra MacDonald, in a role quite different from the maid in "The Rivals," gives us a convincing picture of this red-cheeked Russian lass.

Ivan works up to his proposal, by reminding Natalya that their properties adjoin: "my meadow and your birchwood," and from this innocent observation of metes and bounds, Chekhov explodes his comedy.

And explode it does. Broad to the point of slapstick, it has prat falls, heart palpitations, shrieking accusations, sometimes all at once. Even the orange tassels on the velvet furniture tremble with agitation.

It's an agreeable set, its bright orange, red and purple setting a strong frame for the antics of these three strong-minded individuals.

"School for Wives" presents us with Moliere's M. Delafield, a man who fears cuckoldry more than anything in the world, and is, in fact, so terrified of a faithless wife that he has never married.

He has insured a tranquil future for himself by a adopting a kindergarten-size foundling and having her raised by nuns in such a state of complete innocence and ignorance that she will know no better than to be a perfect wife for him.

Nicholas Kepros, new to Princeton, plays M. Delafield. He uses to the fullest possible extent a wonderfully mobile face of lines and planes, a face which reacts admirably to glee, frustration, cunning, despair and love. It is even a face which can stamp its foot.

As Agnes, the foundling now become nubile, Barbara Caruso is a delicious young lady of such exquisite and fragile charm that she makes M. Delafield's frustrations not only believable, but agonizing to contemplate.

For Agnes has met a young man named Horace, and in her innocent attempts to win him, she outwits M. Delafeld at every turn of the plot, exhibiting a kind of native Machiavellian cunning which drives M. Delafeld quite mad. James Tripp as Horace, is once again, as he was in "The Rivals," a dashing, handsome and cool-vineing young suitor.

Two servants provide M. Delafield with a bare minimum of service. They are Clarence Felder, who can play an ingenuous, wily slave as though he were born to the role, and a plump little partridge named Tally Brown, new to McCarter this season, who joins Mr. Felder to make a nice comic pair.

Moliere's foil for Delafield is Chrysalide, his friend, played by Mario Siletti. It is Chrysalide who brings to the frenzy a note of moderation and reason. Are there not worse things in life than a faithless wife? he asks. Are not greed, dishonesty and cruelty more to be guarded against than cuckoldry?

Stephen Porter's direction is skillful and unobtrusive. He plays out Moliere's comedy before a 17th-century house in Paris, enclosed by a high wall. John Conklin has so fashioned this wall that it can be thrust back into the walls of the home itself, revealing the little courtyard inside. Ingenious and effective.

The presentation of these two comedies is certainly a credit to McCarter's imagination. Moliere is often played these days, and somebody else may decide to do "School for Wives," but chances of seeing the brief Chekhov are few indeed and to pair them off for a single evening's entertainment is inspired thoughtfulness.

SINGER DUE IN TOWN

Josh White Coming. A scholar as well as a folk singer, Josh White has been deeply admired by such diverse elements of society as President and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and members of the class of '66 at Princeton.

Mr. White will appear in McCarter Saturday at 2 p.m. as part of Junior Prom Weekend, but townsfolk are welcome to come, too. Tickets are on sale at the McCarter box office and in the University Store.

TWO DIRECTORS STAR

Hitchcock, Rossellini. "Suspicion," the story of a girl who gradually comes to believe that her husband is trying to poison her, will occupy the McCarter screen Tuesday from 8 p.m. until the chilling conclusion 90 minutes later.

Cary Grant, Joan Fontaine and Cedric Hardwicke star in the 1941 release, but it's Alfred Hitchcock the fans will go to see. A pair of UPA cartoons with Mr. Magoo will serve as curtain-raiser.

The next night (Wednesday, March 10) at 8, McCarter will show Roberto Rossellini's classic, "Open City" filmed before the German occupation of Rome has ended, and made as a tribute to the spirit of the Roman people in the face of occupation.

"Open City," starring Anna Magnani, was the first of the modern realist films. Critics rank it with "Birth of a Nation," "Potemkin" and "The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari" is one of the landmarks of motion-picture history.

The performances this weekend will all take place at 8. On subsequent weekends, the curtains will be 8:30.

The second half of the program will be "Escurial," by Michel de Ghelderode. Laid in the Spain of Philip II, "Escurial" tells the story of the conflicting relationship between a mad king and his

DEEP IN THE COUNTRY

Right Here in Town, in a pleasant, intimate little shop, below street level on the corner of Nassau and Bank Streets in the building that used to house Princeton Bank and Trust, is a new shop called Deep Country Classics.

Its devotions are made chiefly toward the Phelps line of Deep Country clothes, beautifully designed and stitched to give you the simplest, most effective lines in your casual wardrobe.

Let's take the collection of blouses, starting with the petal-collared one. In this case "petal" means a pointed petal, rather like a daylily, stitched to hold it firm. We saw it in a light-weight spring print, all blue flowers on white.

Another blouse is white, or ecru, in nubby cotton with a choice of necklines. There's a jerkin style, which is a "V" with wide bands of stitching around neckline and down the front, and "ox-bow" with a tiny collar that can be worn up or down. All blouses are cut on the bias for freedom of movement.

A delightful jumper-shift will see you through many sunny country mornings. We like it in a tightly woven basketweave the color of a bouquet of lilacs. It has stitching around neck and down front and grommet closing. You'll like the notched shoulders that give an airy look to the line. It can be worn with or without a blouse, but we saw it with a lilac gingham which was most becoming.

The jumper-shift comes also in navy denim stitched with red, and this time it has a patch pocket, if you want it to, and a red gingham blouse.

Made up in deep navy and gold stripe in a heavier weight of denim, it becomes the "Gold Finer Shift", matched with a wrap skirt of the same fabric.

Phelps, of course, practically invented the wrap skirt, and it comes to Deep Country in a straight version with no waistband and a warm sand color. (Great with one of those ecru nubbed cotton blouses).

For late day when the denim comes off and the cocktail hour comes on, Deep Country suggests a two piece dress in natural linen banded around neck and blouse hem with black soutache braid and some flippant bits of jet.

The ensemble also comes with a daringly plunging V neck, and the soutache and jet arranged a bit differently.

Coming soon—it may be here by the time you read this—is a knit group from Sweden. We saw a dove grey knit skirt, in the finest of stitches, paired with a silk shirt. Pants are available as well as skirts, and Deep Country coordinates both with Italian mohair sweaters in a soft harmony of shades.

ALL-PURPOSE SHOPPING

In West Windsor. The branch of Thorne's in West Windsor has a pleasant all-purpose country store air which makes browsing fun. Stop in for Kleenex and you'll walk out with six brandy snifters, each a different pastel shade.

One useful department is devoted to pre-boxed baby clothes for $2.98, ready made to pick up as a quick gift for that new baby down the road.

One-piece sleep-and-play sets in jersey—no mother could possibly have too many. A hooded jacket with a bunny's face for the hood (or was it a kitty's face?); smocked dresses, no bigger than a thumb, and a boy's shirt with a red train on the front. Convenient, inexpensive and welcome to any mother.

What really struck us, however, was the book-rack of "Study Master" sets. Rapid reviews of things like "Silas Marner," "Catcher in the

In From the Cold

Since you never know when March will turn on you with a snarl, we suggest that you buy, right now, a face mask which Thorne's West Windsor store has acquired for people who have to be outdoors, weather or no.

It's a polyfoam mask which you fit over nose and mouth to keep you from freezing the end of your nose and the tip of your tongue. It can also be used with great effect by people who suffer from respiratory troubles if they are in a smoggy city, and it fits almost as snugly, but not quite, as a true medical mask.

It can be rinsed out easily, and it comes in regular or small sizes to fit almost anybody. Costs $1.98.

BALLET IN REHEARSAL

With Guest Choreographer. The Princeton Regional Ballet Company is rehearsing with guest choreographer-director Nelle Fisher for its Sunday, March 14, performance at the McCarter.

Three ballets, all Princeton premieres, will be presented: "Sons Along the River" to music by Aaron Copland; Miss Fisher's treatment of Stravinsky's "Pritrouchka," and "Masquerade" to the "Eine Kleine Nachtmusick" of Mozart. Tickets are available at McCarter.

Miss Fisher's treatment of "The Firebird" at a youth concert at Lincoln Center last month attracted attention from critics and public alike. Her star was 12-year-old Francesca Corkle, a prodigy Miss Fisher discovered in Seattle. She also discovered and "brought on" Suzanne Farrell, now a soloist with Balanchine's New York City Ballet Company.

Last summer Miss Fisher took her own company to the Vancouver International Festival, on a repeat invitation. She followed that with choreography for the Louisville Civic Ballet. Her Princeton undertaking is at the invitation of Audree Estey, artistic director of the Princeton Regional Ballet.

TO DANCE POP ART

San Francisco Here. "Life, do-it-yourself disaster" will be on the program to be presented in McCarter by the dancers of the San Francisco Ballet, due in Princeton for a single performance, Thursday, March 25 at 8:30.

"Life" is a pop art ballet set to the music of Charles Ives by Lew Christensen, general director of the San Francisco company.

The nation's oldest classical ballet company, the San Francisco Ballet has made three tours to foreign lands under State Department auspices and has been hailed by the dance critics of five continents.

PLAYHOUSE

Strange Bedfellows (today thru Tues.) Gina Lolobrigida, Rock Hudson and Gig Young are cast in the leads of this comedy about a married couple.

The scene is London. Young is a high-powered American publicity man working up an image for oil executive Rock Hudson. Lolobrigida is the wife Hudson deserted. A violent pizza thrower, she busies herself with kooky causes, among them a project to reenact Lady Godiva.

Lots of laughs—adult style.

PRINCE

None But The Brave (second week). A story film about war on a tiny Pacific island, "None Bu the Brave" concerns a platoon of stranded Japanese and a U. S. Marine contingent which has crash-landed in the nearby jungle.

The Japanese and American troops are left without radio contact with their commands and feel out each other's strength in a series of pitched battles. A cease-fire is called, and the enemies settle down to an uneasy co-existence which explodes into battle again.

The theme, discovering the humanity of one's enemies, is hardly new, but the treatment in this film has some merit. The cast of Japanese actors (sub-titles are given for their lines) put on excellent performances. Frank Sinatra, Clint Walker and Tommy Sands carry the lead roles as Marines.

The dramatic effect of the film is found in the contrast between the truce period and the senseless violence at the close. Many of the scenes are shocking . . . and not for kids.

GARDEN

(Three hit films of 1963 are scheduled for the coming week.)

Irma la Douce (Wed. & Thurs.) A raffish, sometimes vulgar adaption of the Broadway musical comedy about prostitution. "Irma" stars Shirley MacLaine and Jack Lemmon. Billy Wilder directs.

The Pink Panther (Fri. & Sat.) A polished comedy, blending hectic excitement with a touch of slapstick. David Niven, Peter Sellers, Claudia Cardinale, Capucine and Robert Wagner tell the story of a priceless jewel known as the Pink Panther), a jewel thief, a mysterious princess and the police inspector. The music is by the notable Henry Mancini.

Tom Jones (Sun. thru Tues., March 9) A bawdy, colorful and joyous film rendering of the Henry Fielding classic about an ambitious young man. Albert Finney and Susannah York have the lead roles, which they play to a fare-thee-well. The color photography is superb.

"PLAIN AND FANCY"

Tryouts Thursday — Final tryouts for the Pennington Players' production of "Plain and Fancy" will be held at 8 p.m. this Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William F. J. Fortune, 121 East Delaware Avenue, Pennington.

The musical, written by Joseph Stein and Will Glickman, will be presented July 2 and 3 in the opera air theater at Washington's Crossing park. Mrs. Jack Rees will direct the production, with Robert Sine, music teacher at Pennington Central High School, in charge of the musical scores.

Singers are requested to bring sheet music with them. Dancers are asked to prepare a short folk or interpretive dance.

PRINCETONIAN CHARGED

With Sale of Marijuana. Suzan Heiberger, 21, of 100 Longview Drive, was indicted this week in Ithaca, N. Y. on a charge of selling marijuana. She has pleaded innocent to the indictment handed down by a grand jury.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Heiberger, she is a senior at Cornell University. Specifically, she is accused of sending the illegal drug through the mail to a student at the Connecticut State College for Women, New London, Conn.

The grand jury's investigation allegedly revealed that sale of marijuana has been in progress for some time on the Cornell campus and at nearby Ithaca College. In the past two years, 15 young people have been arrested for participation in the illegal traffic, some of it reportedly conducted by mail.

The charge against Miss Heiberger states that the shipment to New London occurred last January 12. Use of the drug by the Connecticut College student came to light when she became ill following use of the marijuana.

LECTURER TO SPEAK

On Skin Disease. Dr. John A. Kenney, director of the Dermatology Foundation at Howard University, will give an illustrated talk on a skin disease, vitiligo, at 8 p.m. Friday, March 12, in Community Park School. His appearance is sponsored by the Princeton-New Brunswick branch of Frontiers International, a service organization.

Carl Brown of 28 Birch Avenue is branch president. Princeton members include Braxton Ellerby, Langford Bolling, Sherman Bates, Paul Mutnal, and E. Lee Jones.

NO ONE INJURED

In Four-Car Crash. No one was injured in a four-car mishap that occurred Saturday shortly before noon at the Pennington intersection of Delaware and Hamilton Avenues. However, four children, all riding in the car of Mrs. Bambina Carnavale, 27, of 430 Carter Road, were taken to Princeton Hospital for a routine examination.

The chain-reaction accident began when Mrs. Carnavale's car crashed into the rear of a car driven by George Figel, 35, of Scotch Road, Pennington. Mr. Figel's car was pushed into a third car which, in turn was pushed into a fourth.

Pennnington Police Chief James Delle Monache ticketed Mrs. Carnavale for careless driving. Three of the cars had to be towed away.

The same day, in another intersection collision, the left rear fender, bumper and tail light of a car operated by Mrs. Sigrid Andersen, 26, 224 Hawthorne Avenue, were damaged by a speeding stolen car being pursued by Pfl. Donald Forward.

The stolen auto, a 1965 Pontiac, owned by Clarence Phelps of Newark, rammed Mrs. Anderson's car traveling on Valley Road when it ran through a stop sign at Ewing Street. It continued on and as it approached a dead end on Spruce, the driver jumped out and escaped.

Two On Wednesday. Two accidents took place Wednesday within one-half hour of each other.

At 12:26 p. m., Carolyn Adams, 33, 74 Clay Street, was struck on the side of her car as she entered the intersection of Nassau and Harrison Streets. Mrs. Adams was taken to Princeton Hospital and treated for a bump on the head and a swollen left knee.

According to the police report, witnesses to the accident said that a car driven by Harvey R. Manners, 82, of Trenton, traveling on Nassau, ran through a red light, and rammed Mrs. Adams, traveling on Harrison. The impact caused the Adams car to spin sideways, forcing it to strike a light pole with its right rear fender.

Mr. Manners' car continued through the intersection, jumped the curb and struck a large tree in front of 342 Nassau. From there, it continued on and knocked down a stop sign located on the west curb of Harrison Street.

Ptl. Charles Harris, the investigating officer, charged Mr. Manners with a red light violation. He further recommended in his report that Mr. Manners be reexamined by the Motor Vehicle Division.

At 1 p.m. John Van Cleve, 27, of Carson Road, was the victim of a slightly unusual accident when his car's undercarriage failed to clear a manhole cover. Mr. Van Cleve, at the time, was driving on Bertrand Drive which is currently still under construction. The manhole protruded from the surface of the road.

When the car struck, its fenders buckled, damaging, in addition, the hood and undercarriage. A passenger, Mrs. E. Cruikshank, 49, of Chatham, received a slight bump on the head. She refused medical attention.

STANWORTH APT. RIFLED $1400 In Valuables Taken. "We've had a lot of little thefts this week," said Borough Chief Peter J. McCrohan after he had reviewed the past week's listings in the crime docket at his press conference.

Foremost was the report of Frederick L. Arnold on Thursday that his apartment at 40 N. Stanworth had been entered and rifled. Missing, he said, were assorted articles of clothing, jewelry and silverware upon which he placed a value of $1300 to $1400.

Police reported there was no sign of any forced entry. Mr. Arnold had been away the previous week, they said.

On Sunday, Col. Carey J. King Jr., 94 Wilson Road, reported that his charcoal grey, herringbone topcoat was taken from a coat closet while he was attending services at the First Presbyterian Church. Col. King valued the coat and the pair of gloves it contained at $100.

The same day, Howard C. Lincoln of Lake Hiawatha called to say that a suitcase had been taken from his car while it was parked at the rear of the Colonial Club, Prospect Avenue. It contained, he said, a stop watch worth $100, a transistor radio and assorted clothing.

On Saturday, Al Ross, owner of Al's Sinclair Station, 245 Nassau Street, reported $20 in cash missing from his cash register. Police investigated and said that a wire mesh window on the south side of the station had been broken to gain entry. Nothing else was taken, they said.

From the front seat of a pick-up truck parked in the Chambers Street yard, a thief snatched a 20-gauge shotgun valued at $100. The owner, Thomas Fowler, Mt. Rose Road, Pennington, said the theft took place between 9.20 and 11:15 p.m. Friday.

Other thefts: Four hubcaps worth $27 each were reported taken from a car parked in front of the House of Mario, a hairdresser at 200 Nassau Street, where the car's owner, Mrs. Barbara Calambas, is employed. A $50 blow torch taken from in front of 73 Spruce Street during the half-hour the user had left it there to eat his lunch. It was the property of Phillip J. Golden Jr., plumbing and heating contractor.

GLENN IS INDICTED For Jewel Theft. John Glenn, 22, of John Street, was indicted last week by a Mercer County Grand Jury, after he was charged with entering and larceny in the home of William Shillaber of Carter Road last June.

Prosecutor Vincent Panaro said that Glenn entered the home of the New York jeweler and stole assorted pieces of jewelery valued at $16,281. According to Mr. Panaro, the most valuable single piece taken was a $3,000 platinum ring, containing one large diamond, 22 smaller diamonds and 16 small rubies.

Some of the jewelry was found in Detroit, some in South Carolina and some in Trenton. Other pieces are still missing, Mr. Panaro said.

In Borough Court Monday, Herbert Broadway, 42, 12 Birch Avenue, pleaded not guilty to a charge of assault, but was fined $25 by Magistrate Theodore T. Tams, Jr. A similar charge against Gilbert Jenkins, Jr., 57, 118 Leigh Avenue, was dismissed.

Russell P. Baltzer, 17, 536 Rosedale Road, was fined $10 as a careless driver and had his license revoked for 10 days. Peter B. Blatcher, 24, 149 Carter Road, paid $15 for a red light violation.

NEW BUILDING NAMED For Dean Magie. Princeton University's second 96-unit apartment building for junior faculty has been named in honor of the late William F. Magie, former dean of the faculty and chairman of the physics department. The building is nearing completion on the north side of Lake Carnegie.

Dean Magie, valedictorian of the Class of 1879, was a member of the Princeton faculty for 50 years. He was designated Joseph Henry Professor of Physics in 1910, and served as dean of the faculty from 1912 to 1925 under President John G. Hibben.

The author of a half-dozen technical volumes, he was especially interested in specific heats of liquids and capillarity. During World War I he conducted research on a protective device for gas war and camouflage. Earlier in his career he investigated various uses of the newly-discovered X-ray at the request of the American Journal of Medical Science.

Dean Magie took part in Princeton scientific expeditions to the fossil-bearing fields of the Dakotas and Yellowstone Park and in an expedition to study ocean temperatures off Martha's Vineyard.

Widely read in history and poetry, he was a founder and president of the American Physical Society, a member of the American Philosophical Society, a trustee of Princeton Seminary, superintendent of First Presbyterian Church for 17 years, and a member of Borough Council for five years.

The Magie Apartments are similar to the Hibben Apartments, completed in 1961. Long-range plans call for a third such building to accommodate junior faculty. Sixteen units in the Magie Apartments will be reserved for mid-career students attending the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs.

MUSIC In Princeton

MISS FORRESTER SINGS In Series II Concert. On Monday evening, Maureen Forrester, the Canadian-born contralto, returned to the stage of McCarter Theatre after a two-year absence and presented one of the finest examples of singing artistry that this reviewer has heard. Miss Forrester was accompanied at the piano by John Newmark.

The program consisted of German Sacred Songs by C. P. E. Bach and Johann Wolfgang Franck, seven songs by Franz Schubert and three groups of songs composed during the twentieth century: the "Melodies Passagères" on poems by Rilke, by Samuel Barber; a "Spring Rhapsody" by Jean Coulthard, and "Seven Popular Spanish Songs" by Manuel de Falla.

As for the music on the program, it was once again the same story: magnificent first half followed by a dismal second half, save for the marvelous Spanish songs which concluded the evening's fare.

As for Miss Forrester's vocal abilities! That is another matter. She has developed her voice into a splendid musical instrument. Seldom have I heard a contralto who projects such clear unwavering sounds. Her tone is pure gold. Her diction is perfect and her interpretations are among the most musical and eloquent of those presenting lieder recitals today.

She sang all the selections on the program well, but she excelled in the best music, the Schubert songs particularly. Her choice among Schubert's vast quantity of songs was impressive, for each song, a gem followed by another, presented different vocal problems for the singer to solve.

In "Bertha's Song to the Night", Miss Forrester displayed her mastery of controlled pianissimo singing for the music seldom rises above that dynamic level. In "Gretchen at the Spinning Wheel", perhaps one of Schubert's most famous songs, the artist took this strophic lied and brought out a slightly different expressiveness in her interpretation of each stanza which beautifully compiled with the meaning of the poem.

To me, the finest Schubert effort came with Miss Forrester's performance of "Suleika" on a text by Goethe. The harmonic vocabulary of Schubert is well in advance of its time here and the accompaniment of Mr. Newmark excelled in bringing out Schubert's tender and subtle harmonic progressions.

On the whole, Mr. Newmark's role of accompanist supported the singer well, but at times I found his playing a bit detached and slightly brittle. Perhaps this too can be attributed to the much maligned piano housed on the McCarter stage. Whatever the causes, the keyboard instrument appeared to lack the mellowness of tone associated with Schubert's rippling accompaniments to his "water" songs.

The second half of the program was disappointing mainly because of the selections. The Barber songs are the kind of music that sounds sweet, offends no one really, but fails to sustain interest beyond the first hearing. It serves as a vehicle for the vocalist but no more.

The Coulthard songs, composed especially for Miss Forrester, are worse. This offends the cultivated listener who expects a higher standard of selectivity by the concert artist's management. These works represented the most trite and banal compositional techniques, coarse harmonic progressions and obvious attempts at word painting in the accompaniments that bordered on the ridiculous.

It was a pleasure to hear Miss Forrester conclude her recital with her charming presentation of Manuel de Falla's Spanish songs, for they were sinuere, natural and warm excursions into the sunny and passionate world of the composer.

—Arno Safran

POP CONCERT SET At PHS. A program of popular music, ranging from "Autumn Leaves" to the Glenn Miller arrangement of "St. Louis Blues March," will be given at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday by the Symphonetta Band of Princeton High School in the auditorium.

Soloists include Doug Tomlinson, baritone horn; Lyle Story, trumpet; Warren Counts, Greg Tomlinson and Warren White, drums, and Cathy Craig, piccolo. Proceeds of the $1.50 admission will go toward the purchase of new band uniforms.

Included in the program are "Bill Bailey," "Begin the Beguine," "Misty," "Ode for Trumpet," written by Alfred Reed especially for the great Trumpeter Don Jacoby; the overture from "Bye Bye Birdie," and the theme "Conquest" from the film "Captain from Castile."

Also, a modern concert march, "650 East," "Little Brown Jug Goes to Town" and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

ORGAN RECITAL SET In Miller Chapel. Miss Joan Lippincott, assistant professor of organ at Westminster Choir College, will give a recital at 1:35 this Thursday in Miller Chapel, Princeton Seminary campus.

A graduate of the Choir College and The Curtis Institute of Music, where she studied under Dr. Alexander McCurdy, Miss Lippincott has a growing reputation as a gifted organist.

Her program includes the Prelude, Fugue and Chaconne by D. Buxtehude, three Brahms chorale preludes and Sonata I by Hindemith. The concert is one of the Thursday series of half-hour recitals on the Seminary's new $70,000 organ, scheduled through May. David Hugh Jones is music director at the Seminary.

MUSIC SOCIETY TO MEET All-Brahms Program. The Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs will meet at 5 p.m. Sunday at the Woolworth Center of Musical Studies, Princeton University campus. The program, without orchestra, will be Brahms' "Liebeslieder Waltzes," conducted by Mrs. Barbara C. Lewis.

The public is invited to attend, and is requested to telephone Mrs. Melvin Goldleib (921-7214) before Friday so that arrangements may be made for music and refreshments.

MUSICIANS TO PLAY In University Concert. Members of the Princeton University Orchestra will offer a program ranging from Vivaldi to Ravel Sunday at 3:30 in Alexander Hall. Nicholas Harsanyi will conduct the most concerts sponsored by the Friends of Music at Princeton, this one will be open to the public without charge.

The program will open with Vivaldi's Concerto for Two Trumpets, featuring Roger Blackburn and Thomas Hughes. Mr. Blackburn is a sophomore at Westminster Choir College and Mr. Hughey a senior at Princeton.

Nicholas Birchby, a freshman at Princeton, will be soloist in the Saint Saens Concerto No. 3 for Violin and Orchestra and the program will close with Ravel's "Bolero."

ART ON VIEW

At Princeton Bank. The originals of the art reproduced in Princeton Bank and Trust Company's 1965 calendar are on display on the main banking floor at 76 Nassau Street.

The 12 Princeton artists represented are Margaret K. Johnson, Anthony Lucarelli, Helga Nergaard, Janice Bortree, Cintra Huber, Rex Goreleigh, Carol Stoddard, Louis Cicchini, Marie Sturken, Ann Wiesman, Lou Chen and Peter Cook.

Some 8,000 copies of the calendar have been distributed. Mrs. Jane Adriance created the Christmas greeting cover and obtained the artists' work. The exhibit is open during banking hours.

NOMINATIONS OPEN

For Red Cross Officers. Fred M. Blaicher has been appointed chairman of the nominating committee by Gerald S. Hanks, chairman of the Princeton Chapter, American Red Cross.

Serving with him are Mrs. Carl Sjostrom, Mrs. Alan Tredennick, William Cosby and Paul Alford. The deadline for nominations is March 31.

The term of office expires for the following officers: chairman, Jerald S. Hanks; first vice-chairman, Dr. Erling Dorf; second vice-chairman, Mrs. V. Terrell Davis; secretary, Mrs. Fred Cither; treasurer, Joseph Catelli, and assistant treasurer, Ridgeley Cook. All are one-year terms.

Board members whose three-year terms expire are Mrs. T. Morgan Harris, Mrs. Wilson Coan, Mrs. Carl Sjostrom and William Cosby. There is an additional vacancy to be filled for the term ending 1966. All members of the Princeton Chapter are invited to forward candidates' names to Mr. Blaicher, American Red Cross, 71 University Place.

DIG WE MUST

For a Growing Princeton. Nassau Street pedestrians who have been forced to sidestep the cavernous hole in front of the English Shop perhaps felt a kinship for New York City walkers who have been endlessly re-routed to make way for a growing New York.

The huge hole, which has been lined with concrete, is a transformer vault. It is being installed by Public Service which plans to reinforce its electrical service lines between Witherspoon Street and Bayard Lane. Completion is expected to take one month.

Actually, the vault is only a first step, according to Borough Engineer Thomas Cawley. Step number two will involve the digging of a trench, four feet from the curb, which will parallel Nassau Street from Witherspoon to Bayard Lane. That is going to create "one awful mess", said Cawley.

And like New York, the step is necessary to accomodate the added service requirements of a growing Princeton. The new office building at 70 Nassau Street, and the four-story office building now under construction on Chambers Street, in particular, will place increasing demands on electrical service in the area.

The problem for Public Service is that there are not enough ducts to handle the needed new lines for telephones and the like. When the original equipment was installed in 1906, Public Service added more ducts (a hollow tube to house wires) than were then needed, a standard practice allowing for future growth. That anticipated growth has caught up to Public Service, 59 years later.

LENHART WINS

In Libel Action. R. L. Lenhart, Hopewell - Pennington Road, has won a six-cent out-of-court settlement of a libel suit he filed in November, 1963, against the West Mercer Democratic Club.

The suit stems from a flyer published by the club in support of its candidates for Hopewell Township Committee in the 1963 elections. The flyer showed a picture of Mr. Lenhart's house, and reproduced the advertising copy describing the house when Mr. Lenhart had it up for sale.

In his ad copy, Mr. Lenhart had said that he paid $391 annually in taxes on the house. The club charged in its flyer that the house, offered for an asking price of $36,900, should have been paying $1,201 in taxes. The club used the word "lucky," insinuating, in Mr. Lenhart's opinion, that there was conspiracy between him and the Hopewell Township tax collector.

SUIT FILED

Over Witherspoon Zoning. Five Witherspoon Street property owners are challenging in Superior Court the Borough Council's amended zoning ordinance.

All Borough residents, the plaintiffs are Benjamin Kahn, Harold Brook, Joseph Guadagno, Erick Craig and John J. Cuomo.

The amendment passed on December 8, 1964, changed a strip of Witherspoon north of Green Street from "business" to a modification limiting the business use in a building to 40% of the total floor area.

Attorney David Deitz of Trenton, representing the property owners, says he will contend that the amendment is not in accordance with state laws. He will argue that the 60-lot strip along both sides of Witherspoon south of the Borough line, has been a business area since the original zoning ordinance was introduced, that the amendment depreciates property values and is not a benefit to the entire community. The suit will be heard in about six months.

MRS. CORNISH HONORED

For DAR Service. Mrs. Albert C. Cornish, who is completing her sixth year as Regent of the Princeton Chapter, DAR, was guest of honor at a surprise reception Sunday. Mrs. Cornish will become New Jersey State Vice-Regent next year.

Mrs. Frank A. Rechif Sr., president of Morven Society, CAR, presented an all-American music program featuring soprano soloy by Mrs. Frank Evatt and Mrs. Wilbur Young, a piano solo by Mary Young, a flute solo by Sally Rechif and songs and instrumental music by the "Morven Singers" and the "Morven Musicians."

Approximately 70 persons attended. Among the guests were Frank Evatt, representing the Princeton Chapter, SAR, and James Arrington, representing the Princeton Chapter, SAR.

OPEN HOUSE, TRIP SET

At YW-YMCA. The Tiger Town Teens will hold open house for Princeton teenagers from 8 until midnight this Saturday at the Y. The program includes dancing, cards and ping pong. The snack bar will be open. Admission is 25c to card holders and 50c for guests.

Teenage girls are invited to visit Cedar Crest College, Allentown, Pa., on Saturday, March 13. Cars will leave the YWCA at 9 a.m. and return in the afternoon. Reservations may be made with Mrs. William Humes (924-4025) by Tuesday.

ARCHITECT TO SPEAK

At Jewish Center. Percival Goodman, widely-known architect, will deliver an illustrated lecture on contemporary architecture Sunday at 8 p.m. at the Jewish Center.

Professor of Graduate Design at Columbia University's School of Architecture, he is co-author with his brother, Paul, of "Communitas," a book on city planning. He is a member of the Mayor's Panel of Selected Architects, New York City.

TO TOUR ORCHESTRA

High School Group to Play. "An Acoustical Tour of the Orchestra" will be offered to children (and their parents) Thursday at 7:30 in the auditorium of Valley Road School under the auspices of the Princeton Junior Museum.

The Princeton High School Orchestra under Sylvan Friedman, will demonstrate the sounds of various sections of the orchestra, and will show the audience how different musical qualities are produced.

Timothy Mount will be soloist in a movement from Beethoven's Piano Concerto No. 1.

The program will also include selections from Mozart's Symphony No. 40 in G Minor and from Aaron Copland's ballets, "Billy the Kid" and "Rodeo."

The program is the final one in the Junior Museum's series on "Sound and Music."

ITS A TIME TO LET THINGS RIP: So says Craig Brower (left) in support of mid-winter vacations. Clark Hastings likes the idea too but, prefers one shorter than a week. Overall, eight are in favor of winter vacations, while 11 would prefer a longer summer vacation. (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: Do you like having a mid-winter vacation or would you rather have a longer summer vacation?

Where asked: Nassau Street.

Craig Brower, 50 Broadripple Drive, PHS sophomore: I prefer a winter vacation. It makes school seem a little shorter. You just let everything go during the week; you let 'er rip! By the time it's over, you're ready to go back.

Clark Hastings, Shady Brook Lane, PHS freshman: I like a winter vacation but I'd rather not have one as long. I'd like to add a couple more days to summer vacation and have, say, three days winter vacation. Instead of going back to school September 7th, I rather start on the 10th.

Ronald Gendasek, 9 Palmer Square W., PHS junior: I'd rather have a longer summer vacation now that I'm older. I feel I can do more in the summer. I think one day is enough to forget a week's drudgery and I would rather go to school six days a week in order to get a longer summer vacation.

Meredith Stevens, 42 Cleveland Lane, Witherspoon School 8th-grader: A longer summer vacation: more time to have beach parties.

Sara Morey, 210 Mountain Avenue, PHS junior: I would much prefer a longer summer vacation. You can get out and air your brain and really think; you can't do that in one week. In a winter vacation you're more or less just recuperating —which I suppose you need— but I'd rather get it over with all at once. Anyway, it gets too hot to study for exams at the end of June.

Michael DeMauro, 630 Prospect Avenue, Chapin School: I'd rather like to have a longer summer vacation. We usuallyually go to Long Beach Island and I have a lot of friends there. We get into lot of trouble there, too. The more trouble we get into, the more fun we have. A longer vacation gives us more time to get organized.

Polly Githler, Arreton Road, Valley Road, 9th-grader: I'd rather have a winter vacation. We might as well have a vacation in there some place. It gets real boring going to school all year.

David Russinoff, Heather Lane, PHS junior: I certainly would rather have a longer summer vacation. As a matter of fact, I would just as soon go to school on Sunday to have a longer summer vacation. It's so good to get a week off once in a while. It's too short to get anything done or go any place.

Jeff Michael, 63 Hemlock Circle, PHS freshman: I definitely like the idea of having a winter vacation. How can you go all the way from Christmas to summer without a break? I like the week off in the middle. When you get a week's vacation, you always want to go back at the end of the week.

Philip Matthews, 85 Moore Street, Chapin School, 7th grader: I like a longer summer vacation because you have more time to do things. Summer vacations seem so small anyway; I like them as long as possible.

Chris Breese, 163 Hamilton Avenue, Witherspoon School, 7th-grader: I like a winter vacation because if you have to go to school for so long it gets kind of boring. It gives you a break. Summer gets kind of hot anyway.

Robert Rivelin, 640 Prospect Avenue, Chapin School, 8th-grader: I think I would rather have a longer summer vacation because we get out of school sooner than the others and it's more fun being out when the other kids aren't.

Joseph Seldner, 188 Grover Avenue, Valley Road School, 8th-grader: I like a winter vacation because you need a break after all that work.

Zachery Tumin, 110 Prospect Avenue, Witherspoon School, 6th-grader: I don't want a winter vacation because it shortens your summer vacation. A winter vacation really isn't very good. Hardly anybody is sick during winter vacation; I don't see much benefit to it.

Brendan Layton, 114 Prospect Avenue, Witherspoon School, 6th-grader: I'd like a longer summer vacation. I'm usually never sick in winter vacation and that's why they give it to you. I'd rather just finish school and get it over with.

Janice Grysbek, 13 Ober Road, Valley Road, 8th-grader: I'd rather have a longer summer vacation because you can't go on long trips otherwise. If you want to go somewhere like Hawaii you can. You can't do much in one week. Besides, the longer you have off in the summer, the longer you don't have to think of school.

James Ware, 90 Birch Avenue, PHS sophomore: I'd rather have winter vacation. After working hard in school for so long, I think we should have a week off. We need some relaxation and it helps break the monotony of school.

Bob Korman, 371 Riverside Drive, Valley Road, 8th-grader: I'd rather have a longer summer vacation. It just seems if you have just one long vacation it is a lot better. I'd much prefer to get out of school June 8th instead of June 18th. It gets very hot in June and it gets uncomfortable sitting in the classroom.

Leroy Bolden, 94 Birch Avenue, Valley Road, 8th-grader: I like to have a winter vacation. When you work a long time you need a rest from school. I helps to take off some of the pressure that builds up.

Rye." "Lord of the Flies." "Death of a Salesman." You pay a dollar, and you get character analysis, an analysis of plot structure, a critical appraisal, a summary of the characters, suggested study topics and a bibliography.

We did some home-work on the one for "Lord of the Flies," and it was awesomely detailed. Does teacher know about these? I mean, after all, why read the book!

Considerably shaken, we moved to the household gifts where life is simpler. Curving acacia wood salad bowls, a rim little clear glass sugar-creamer set and all kinds of doors d'oeuvre dishes are designed for easy entertaining and gift-giving. Pick up half a dozen Swedish coasters made of cork, rimmed with pleasant brown wood, and held together by a rattan loop.

The cosmetic department is considerate of winter-worn skins, and offers Matchabelli's Polyderm, a greaseless cream without hormones, to revive dried skin. You pay $3.50 and get a $5.50 value; jar, plus travel-size tube.

NEW, FOR HALF SIZES

Style, at Bellows. "Half-size is a phrase some women shrink from, and so Bellows uses the designation "C" for its new collection of dresses from 12½ to 24½, and sometimes, sizes 38 to 40; dresses that is, for mature women, perhaps with short waists, perhaps with Junoesque figures that cannot be fitted with standard sizes. Prices start at $25, and will be lower when summer cottons come along.

The most entrancing is a flowing chiffon print in deepest emerald and royal, with a slightly lowered neckline in back and a wide, flaring panel that flows from neck to waist, and serves also as a drape in front. Wonderfully sophisticated.

Another is a pale pink linen-rayon, with a round collar, set rather low, and minute scallops embroidered around collar and sleeves. For town, there is a deep navy (or avocado) with an all-over ribbon jacket and a perfectly simple silk dress with raglan sleeves and a gently curving neck. These dresses have all been designed with sleeves, by the way.

The size 34 and 40 is a suave black arnel jersey with a woven look. It has a slim, curving white line all the way around the collar and down front, a long waist and a long skirt, for gals who are tall, tall.

For a real "custom" dress, consider Bellows' "Posh" dress. You may have it sleeveless, or with short sleeves; two soft pleats, straight skirt; print or solid—the variations must be infinite.

The dress is silk, and we saw it in bright apple green. It is fully lined, with exquisite detailing, it costs $100 and you will wear it for the rest of your life, because it is precisely what YOU want.

Bellows' most intriguing accessory this spring is a loop of nylon organdy in various colors and white. Put the loop over your head, secure it at the waist with a ribbon, and you have a folded, V-neck vest to wear under any suit.

Slip it over your head again, but catch its folds this time at the side of the throat with your favorite pin. Third time around, fold it around your head as a turban.

ZONING BOARD SAYS YES To Astrophysics Building. Princeton University's application for a special permit to erect a new astrophysics building between Ivy Lane and College Road near the entrance of Palmer Stadium was granted Thursday by the Borough Zoning Board. Completion of the 15,000-square foot, Yamasaki-designed building is expected by the summer of 1966.

A by-product of the decision, according to University officials, will be a completion of Faculty Road. Faculty Road currently ends at the Washington Road intersection, its completion being blocked by the present Astrophysics labs which stand in the way.

When the new building is completed there old labs will be torn down. Frank P. Reiche, University attorney, said that the University hopes to complete Faculty Road, possibly by late fall, 1966.

The new building will house about 50 members of the astrophysics department. A basement floor will contain laboratories.

The main floor will consist of faculty offices, a library and an auditorium capable of seating 100 people. A penthouse-type second floor will house two telescopes. There will be parking for 40 cars.

It was designed by Minoru Yamasaki, who designed the Woodrow Wilson building now nearing completion at Washington Road and Prospect Avenue. Mr. Reiche said that the building will be in keeping with the character of the area.

Ticket Office Can Stay. The application by Suburban Transit Company, a New Brunswick-based bus company, for a special use permit to retain its ticket office and waiting room at the corner of Nassau and Witherspoon was granted. In approving the application, the Board noted that the request had been reviewed informally, but favorably, by the Borough Planning Board and Traffic Safety Committee.

The ticket office had been in operation for the past several months, but the Zoning Board deemed a special permit would be needed because of the increased traffic it would generate. The Board also permitted Suburban to install a second, non-lighted sign on the Witherspoon side of the terminal. One lighted sign per establishment is the Zoning rule.

In a third decision, the Board granted Mrs. William Jarvis of Wilson Road permission to convey from her lot to that of Mrs. Datus C. Smith Jr., a neighbor, a strip of land measuring 20-feet wide. The strip provides Mrs. Jarvis better access to her property.

A variance was needed because both lots are non-conforming. Attorney William L. Bunting represented the applicants.

TO HEAR MRS. MEREDITH At BPW Session, Attorney Regina Meredith will be the guest speaker at a dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club at 6:30 p.m. Monday at the Nassau Inn. The meeting marks National Business Women's Week.

Mrs. Meredith, who practices law with her husband in Trenton, is a member of the bar associations of Mercer County, New Jersey and Philadelphia. She is admitted to practice before the Pennsylvania and New Jersey Supreme Courts and the United States Supreme Court. A Republican Committeewoman for more than six years, she is active in a number of health and welfare organizations.

Miss Kathryn Helm, BPW president, will report on the legislative conference she attended in Washington.

ANNUAL MEETING SET By High School PTA. Election of officers and a panel discussion of "Reading and Responsibility: the Place of Controversial Reading in Libraries" are planned for the annual meeting of the Princeton High School PTA at 8 p.m. next Wednesday, March 10, in the auditorium.

A Courageous Declaration.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I should have thought that, ever since Gandhi and Martin Luther King, if not Jesus Christ, who, in Tertullian's words, "unsirded every soldier," it was possible for a person of conscience to make a conscientious statement against the use of force and violence without being condemned as unpatriotic. I am constantly proved wrong. The examples occur in last week's TOWN TOPICS, where two obviously patriotic citizens judge those who signed "The Declaration of Conscience" published in the February 18 issue of TOWN TOPICS to be unpatriotic.

As a member of the Fellowship of Reconciliation who could not intellectually subscribe to this particular declaration. I should like to ask every United States citizen if he has taken as much trouble as these F.O.R. subscribers to discover whether his conscience can condone the killing and torture of innocent people on any grounds, let alone ephemeral ideological and political ones. Or whether it is not more "patriotic" in the long run to question, or indeed to resist, the use of force and violence, when, as the editors of the Cambridge Modern History, in what they call "The Era of Violence, 1898-1945," point out, the results of the two world wars we have fought in this century almost completely negated the intentions of the victorious powers?

If Vietnam should ultimately precipitate World War III, who is to predict what "victory" or "defeat" would mean?

These, I believe, and others like them, are the problems that moved the consciences of my F.O.R. colleagues. If their courageous declaration should stir even one other conscience as deeply, we should all be grateful, whatever that one conscience honestly concludes.

Emery Battis "Great."

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I should like to add to the Town Topics review of "The Rivals" that Emery Battis was more than "in form." Mr. Battis' performance on opening night was perfect, consummate artistry.

If Gielgud can be admitted to have played a "great" Hamlet, then Battis must be conceded to have given us a "great" Sir Anthony. He played the part with intelligence, style, assurance and life. He was all that Sheridan could have wished for.

To say merely that Mr. Battis was "in form" is to imply that anything beyond adequacy is wasted on us. Let us hope that this was true only of the reviewer, not of the audience.

BUSINESS In Princeton

BIG MOVE ON NASSAU

By Nassau Interiors. After 14 years in the furniture business in Princeton, Nassau Interiors will pick up chair and sofa, lamp and mattress and will move, on March 17, into new show and salesroom at 360 Nassau, in the building formerly owned by Prince Chevrolet.

It will be a complete move. The old store at 162 Nassau will be occupied, early this summer, by Solfo Paint with an expanded arts and crafts department.

"We'll have three times as much space in our new store," said Leonard LaPlaca, owner of Nassau Interiors, "and we've done a complete remodeling job here, tiling over the entire automobile showroom and the former parts department."

The service building in the rear, straight ahead as the customer drives in from Nassau, has been given what Mr. LaPlaca calls a "face lifting"—a new brick front. Design work has been done by Mr. and Mrs. LaPlaca themselves.

Traditional and modern furniture, accessories and bedding will continue to be carried in the new store. In addition, Mr. LaPlaca plans an expanded display of office furniture, complete even to executive ashtrays and secretary's wastebaskets. An outstanding feature of this department will be an office design service, and a developing feature, as time goes by, will be a "Men's Department" where wives and secretaries can shop for office accessories to give the boss.

The cluster of buildings at 360 Nassau and the corridors and courts between provide a ready-made background for outdoor and casual furniture, and when the season is ready, Mr. LaPlaca plans an extensive display of furniture for summer living.

The entire plot is more than an acre and a half, which means plenty of off-street parking. Mr. LaPlaca estimates that there is space for 150 cars, overall.

Vincent Sussman, who has been with Mr. LaPlaca for nine years, will serve as manager of the new store.

LANDAU'S MARKS 10TH

Meters Are A Problem. David Landau, a Brooklyn retailer for 10 years, opened a store in Princeton just ten years ago. "My first impression was that I was going to knock the town dead, and in the first two years I was taught a lesson . . . !"

Now prospering at 114 Nassau Street, Mr. Landau had to adjust to Princeton tastes. "You can't force things on people. A manufacturer is interested in high volume sales and fad items. But in Princeton, people want quality, good workmanship. For the first time in my career, I can buy what I like instead of what is being sold."

He surveyed Princeton before locating here. "I found no industry, so that business is on a fairly stable level. There's no danger of strikes, or factories moving out. Because he prefers the heart of town to the shopping center, he located first on Witherspoon Street, then on Nassau.

"The big problem here is the half-hour meter on this side of the street. The lot in the back helps a little. We don't feel that a half hour is enough time for a woman to try on clothing and make decisions. She worries about the meter.

"I hope a change can be brought about . . . otherwise we are just chasing people away."

An Occasional Golfer. Devoted to his store, where he spends six full days a week, he only occasionally finds time for a little golf. His wife is at that time, there were six employees. Today there are 22. By the end of 1962, a staff of 35 months after the move to permanent quarters, P.A.R. had a staff of 12, six different instrument models, a backlog of orders, and plans for an in-

READ 1000 TO 2000 WORDS A MINUTE

WITH FULL COMPREHENSION AND RETENTION

You can read 150-200 pages an hour using the ACCELERATED READING method. You'll learn to read DOWN the page comprehending at speeds of 1,000 to 2,000 words a minute. And retention is excellent.

This is NOT a skimming method; you definitely read every word.

You can apply the ACCELERATED READING method to textbooks and factual material as well as to literature and fiction. The author's style is not lost when you read at these speeds. In fact, your accuracy and enjoyment in reading will be increased.

Consider what this reading ability will enable you to accomplish — in your required reading and in the additional reading you want to do.

No machines, projectors, or apparatus are used in learning the ACCELERATED READING method. In this way the reader avoids developing any dependence upon external equipment in reading.

An evening class in ACCELERATED READING will be taught at the PRINCETON INN beginning in early MARCH.

Be our guest at a 30-minute public demonstration of the ACCELERATED READING method and see it applied by Princeton students who have recently completed the course.

RCA SETS RECORD

For Third Straight Year. Sales and earnings of the Radio Corporation of America set new all-time records in 1964. Profits rose to $82,495,000 on a sales volume of $1,812,459,000. The upward spiral has continued for three consecutive years.

The fourth quarter earnings of $26.7 million in 1964 were the highest for any single quarter in the company's 45-year history. It was the 15th straight quarter in which profits were higher than those of the comparable period a year earlier.

Chairman David Sarnoff and President Elmer W. Engstrom said in the annual report that this trend is expected to continue through the 1960's. Anticipated volume in the electronics industry will rise from its present $16 billion to nearly $22 billion by 1970, with the greatest increase probably occurring in electronic data and processing controls. RCA introduced in December the Spectra 70 series, the first true third generation of computers.

By 1970, the report said, the number of color TV sets is expected to increase more than six times, from slightly under three million to 19 million sets.

Government sales, which accounted for 38% of the total volume four years ago, have dropped to one-quarter of

A sensible new college savings plan that protects against inflation, and recession, assures plan completion in the event of Dad's death or lengthy illness, and offers an easy convenient way to save.

Richard A. Dahl

Essential Planning Associates

in cooperation with

The Nassau Fund

and

The First National Bank of Princeton

Presents

The Insured Savings and Equity Plan

The Plan

1. Your deposits are divided between guaranteed tax-sheltered savings, and a portfolio of primarily common stocks.
2. At your option or your convenience and to encourage regular investment, your deposits can be automatically deducted monthly from a checking account at The First National Bank of Princeton.
3. Your plan is insured to guarantee your children completion of the plan in the event of Dad's death or lengthy disability due to illness or accident.

Here's Why This Plan Makes Sense

- College tuitions have gone up 300% in the past 15 years.
- No one can predict tomorrow's economy . . . inflation . . . or perhaps a sharp recession just when you need money for college. That's why a balanced plan between common stocks and guaranteed savings makes sense.
- Few people can save regularly by themselves and need a formalized system of savings, such as this plan allows.
- Parents who don't consider Dad's health in their college savings plans are not, perhaps, being fair to their children.

25% of all 35 year old men will die before 65.

50% will have a lengthy disability averaging 1½ years.

TOURNAMENT - BOUND Tigers to Play Penn State. A Princeton basketball team which last weekend played some of the finest basketball ever seen in Dillon Gymnasium will enter the first round of the NCAA Tournament Monday at Philadelphia.

So impressive has the Tigers' stretch run been in overhauling Cornell and nailing it to the mast that they may well be installed as favorites over a Penn State quintet that ranks as one of the top independent teams in the East. The Nittany Lions, who will end their regular season playing Rutgers at home Saturday night, are 18-3 and have won their last 12 in a row.

Scoring balance and a tough zone defense have been the two factors' largely responsible for Penn State's success, which has included such major accomplishments as back-to-back victories over Kansas and Kansas State at Christmas-time and home-and-home triumphs over West Virginia, the Southern Conference champion.

Unlike most teams which achieve success today, Penn State's squad is not populated with tall men. Its biggest member is 6-7, another is 6-5 and thereafter, they are normal-sized, albeit extremely able, basketball players.

Slight Edge to Tigers. It comes as no surprise that the reaction at Penn State, when Princeton clinched the Ivy title, was a wish that the draw had not provided Princeton as its opponent. While the Ivy League is always lightly regarded elsewhere, an Ivy team with Bill Bradley on it is something else again—particularly one that showed the balance the Tigers did last weekend in wrapping up their third straight championship.

On Monday's program at the Palestra will be two other games, following the Penn State-Princeton meeting at 6 o'clock. West Virginia will face Providence, the other eastern independent selected from this area, at 8. At 10 p.m., Connecticut, perennial Yankee Conference champion, goes against St. Joseph's, Middle Atlantic Conference representative. The favorites are Providence and St. Joseph's.

The three winners in Monday's triplehead will play the following Friday and Saturday at the University of Maryland. The victor in the Penn State-Princeton game will face the Atlantic Conference champion, who will be determined in playoffs scheduled for this weekend. Expectations are that it will be Duke, despite the Blue Devils' loss last Saturday to North Carolina.

Princeton on Monday will be seeking its third triumph in NCAA action. Five years ago, the Tigers defeated George Washington, and last March, they turned back Virginia Military. No Ivy team has ever gone beyond the first round in an NCAA tournament.

Channel 5, New York, will televise the Penn State-Princeton basketball game from Philadelphia on Monday. The tap-off in the first contest of the NCAA triple-header at the Palestra is set for 6 p.m.

Arrangements for the telecast were made early this week by R. Kenneth Fairman, Princeton's Director of Athletics. "We are hopeful," he said, "that if Princeton wins and plays in the quarter-finals, the following weekend at Maryland, that Channel 5 will also televise from there."

Bradley-paced Princeton team should become the first Ivy quintet to average 100 points on consecutive nights.

The potential balance that had eluded the Tigers most of the season was there to perfection as they raced to their third straight championship at the fantastic rate of 2½ points per minute. The 93-60 conquest of Columbia was followed by an unprecedented 107-to-84 defeat of Cornell, with the three-figure Tiger total bettering by one the score recorded against Brown 11 years ago.

While it would have ranked as a major upset had Princeton lost the title it was defending on its own court, the Tigers added to their reputation as a team that rises to the occasion by the convincing manner in which they won. Before the first period of each game was half gone, Columbia and Cornell both trailed by 13 points—and this was a Cornell quintet that had averaged better than 80 points a game in ripping off 13 straight victories earlier in the season.

The Orange and Black also bettered its time-schedule for winning Ivy League titles. Two years ago, when Bradley was a sophomore, Princeton required a playoff victory over Yale in the Fordham gymnasium to finish first. Last winter, the Tigers needed to defeat Penn at the Palestra in the final game of the season, but this year they wrapped up their third straight with a game to spare.

Five in Double Figures. For the first time in 23 games this season, Princeton placed five players in double figures in rolling up 107 points against Cornell. Following Bradley's 33 were Bill Haarlow with 19, Ed Hummer with 16, Gary Walters, 13, and Robby Brown, 10.

Haarlow and Hummer were also in double figures against Columbia with 14 and 12, respectively, Hummer thus playing four games in a row in which he came off the bench to produce ten or more points. Bradley's total against Columbia was 23.

It was combination of fast-breaks and steals that worked so well for Princeton both nights. Walters and Bradley were the chief architects, with Haarlow often collaborating to dunk the layup that capped the action. Both weekend opponents opened with man-to-man defenses against the Tigers, and both paid dearly as Princeton quickly displayed accurate passing that shook players loose under the basket time and again.

Cornell switched to a zone in the first half, which ended with the Red trailing, 47 to 20. When it returned, the Ithaca quintet began an all-court press, using, of all people, 6-7 Steve Cram to apply early pressure.

The result was something of a Mexican standoff. Cornell achieved some dislocation of the Princeton offense, and scored several baskets on steals. In return, frequently accurate Princeton passing resulted in an equal number of sucker baskets, and the Tigers actually outscored the losers in the final half, 60 to 54.

Bradley picked up four fouls earlier than he has in several weeks, leaving the game with 11:12 to go and Princeton leading, 73 to 49. It was greatly to the credit of his teammates that they ran this 24-point lead up to 28 (85-57) before a Cornell surge that narrowed the gap to 19 (89-70).

The Tigers All-American (his name is now popping up everywhere, in most selections for the third straight year) then returned to direct his team to renewed control of the outcome. Fittingly, it was his hook shot, followed ten seconds later by a pair of fouls, that raised the Princeton total to 107 for another record.

Princeton shot at a fabulous 60% for the evening, holding the offense-minded losers to 42%. Both teams were outstanding at the foul line, the Tigers' 29-for-35 showing six misses and Cornell failing on only three out of 27.

SKATERS IN SPOTLIGHT

Could Decide Ivy Race. The final game of the season for Princeton's hockey team will determine the outcome of the Ivy League race. Should the Tigers trim Brown at Providence Saturday the winner of the Dartmouth-Cornell game at Ithaca the same night would tie the Bruins for the championship.

It is a tall order for Princeton, which lost to the Rhode Islanders, 5 to 1, in Baker Rink a month ago. The Bruins will enter the ECAC tournament next week, and have hopes of qualifying for the NCAA Tournament, to which they will play host the third weekend in March.

Princeton achieved something last week it had not been able to do all season—win two games in a row. What's more, the Tigers did it in a space of three days, turning back Yale and St. Lawrence by convincing scores of 5-2 and 4-2.

Gordon Gladman and Mike Peterman both scored twice against the Elis, Gladman getting his first as early as 1:21

The Tiger's Share: Half

A .500 percentage isn't considered to be more than barely respectable — save when it comes to winning championships. In the last 16 years in Ivy League action, eight of the titles have been won by Princeton.

The late Cappy Cappen's first championship was achieved in 1950, and he added Ivy crowns to the Tigers' trophy case in 1953, '55 and '60. Jake McCandless piloted Princeton to a first-place finish as acting coach the following winter, while the last three in a row belong to Bill van Breda Kolff.

Princeton's string of three is the first such compiled since all eight Ivy teams have been in the league. Brown, last to enter, played its first season in league competition in 1954.

Looking around the world, we discover that in Bermuda if you sell your car before five years of ownership, you must wait another year before purchasing a new one . . . . If it is any consolation to your dog, most fleas are eyeless . . . According to a recent study over 52 per cent of our citizens have difficulty wooing sleep. Also disclosed was the fact that the production of sleeping pills increased from less than 400 tons in 1948 to more than 4,000 tons last year . . .

The rise in sleeping pill sales is indicative of the fact that thousands are losing sleep . . . but, psychologists tell us that most of it is absolutely unnecessary. of the opening round on a pretty tip-in of a long shot by Mike Spence and following with his second at 12:47. The Elis got one back shortly thereafter, but left the ice trailing by 3-1 when Petermao scored on a breakaway while the Tigers were a man down.

Peterman's slap shot from just inside thet blue line gave the Orange and Black a 4-1 lead early in the second round, and it had little trouble dominating the game thereafter. As usual, Graeme Flanders played a fine game in the nets for Princeton, making 23 saves with steady deaterity.

Fascinatingly, the victory was Princeton's eighth in a row over Yale in Baker Rink. Rarely since 1958 has a Tiger team topped .500 but every winter has seen the Bulldogs beaten with regularity that is anything bot monotonous to the faithful Rink Rats.

A tie-breaking rally in the final three minutes gave Princeton its first victory over St. Lawrence since the initial game in the series was played a dozen years ago. The Tigers had taken leads of 1-0 and 2-1 but the visitors drew even on both occasions, the second time with four minutes to go.

Captain Em Hall got the winning goal on a sharp shot from ten feet out. Mike Spence providing the assist after having scored both of the team's first two goals. Bert Bruser caged an insurance marker just before the finish, capping a night that saw Princeton put 48 shots on target.

PHS STOPS FRANKLIN

Ends Season at 11-11. The Princeton High School basketball team ended its 1964-65 season Friday the way it began; with an upset victory. In its finale, PHS upended visiting Franklin Township, 47 to 43, and thus atoned for an earlier 10-point defeat administered by the losers.

Top scorers for the Blue and White were Wilbur Hines with 13 and Pete Heiberger with 12. Kerry Klink trailed with eight. All played their final regular season game as a Little Tiger.

GET IN THERE! Pete Heiberger, captain of the Princeton High basketball team whose fingers are just inches away from the ball, and teammate Tom Wood try for a tap-in in Friday's finale with Franklin. Little Tiger Wilbur Hines (22) and three Franklin defenders are the earthbound onlookers. (Randall Hagadorn Photo)

After the two teams battled to a 12-all tie at the end of the first quarter, PHS carried a 33-28 lead into the locker room at the half. This was the signal for Franklin to begin "Operation Slowdown". During the second half, each team scored one lone basket.

The molasses type of play worked for the visitors in the third period. PHS was held to two points, while Franklin connected on eight to take a one-point lead into the final eight minutes of play.

Franklin's slowdown misfired in the final period, however when PHS converted 10 free throws and one basket for 12 points, limiting Franklin in the same period to seven. In defeat, the losers also finished their campaign with a .500 record.

Fun With Figures. Statistically, the story of the present PHS squad is one of evenness in the won-lost figures in scoring between itself and its opponents, and among its three standout performers, Hines, Heiberger and Colin Leitch. In 22 games, only 38 points separated the 1476 amassed by PHS and the 1437 tallied by its opponents. PHS was aided in this by its tremendous 112-49 victory in December over Long Branch. Its worst defeat was a 99-66 thumping by Hamilton. Overall, PHS averaged 67.0 per game; its opponents, 65.3.

To a large degree, the team was dominated by Hines, Leitch and Heiberger all seniors. Collectively, they accounted for 1012 points or 8.5 percent of all PHS scoring. All three scored over 00 points, marking the first time in memory that PHS had three such prolific scorers on the team. All three are near the top in Mercer Couty scoring figures.

Heiberger, the team captain, is the most consistent. In 1 games, the missed one because of a bout with the flu, he never fell below double figures, the only player to do so. A top rebounder, he scored 20 or more on eight occasions. He hit his scoring high of 23 twice: against Hightstown and Ewing.

In 21 games, Pete scored 352 points for a 16.76 average. It is necessary to carry it out to two places because Leitch's average for 18 games was 16.72. He scored 301 points.

Leitch, the most colorful and the most aggressive Little Tiger, is the owner of Princeton's top individual scoring effort of the season—29 against Peddie. He also claimed the next two marks, 28 against Long Branch and 27 against Pennington. He topped 20 six times in all. Yet in the finale Friday, the mercurial Leitch dipped to his season's low of 3.

Hines Averages 16.3%. Hines continues the close parallel in scoring. He scored 359 points in 22 games—the only Little Tiger to start and score in all games — for a 16.3 average. Thus only .4 percent separate the three in scoring percentages.

Like Heiberger, Hines tallied 20 or more points on eight occasions. And like Heiberger again, his season's high of 25 he hit twice, once against Bridgewater-Raritan in the opener and again against Pennington.

Of the three, Wilbur—or Scratchy as he is called by all his friends—was the most accurate from outside. He was effective with a one-handed jumper from virtually any spot on the floor. In addition, he had the quickest hands and was fastest driving in for layups. He was, in short, a picture player.

Behind these three were the other two starters for PHS, Mike Underwood and Roger Madden. Underwood tallied 122 points and Maddden, 101. Those five scored all but 241 of the team's total points.

LEADERS HOLD GROUND

In Industrial League, ETS and Cyanamid, who are battling each other for first place in the Princeton YMCA Research and Industrial Basketball League, held their positions last week as each recorded victories.

Thursday at the West Windsor gym, Cyanamid topped Post Office despite Dave Britton's 22 points for the losers. At the PHS court last Tuesday, Paul Harmon, 23 points, and Clarence Gilbert, 21, led ETS to a 59-45 decision over ORC. Lack of a strong bench hurt the losers who led at the half 26 to 22.

In a second game at the high school, Western Electric came alive in the second half after a slow start to defeat Astro, 47-30. Big man for WE was Vince Graziano with 21 points. At West Windsor, Sam Lowe connected for a league record of 55 points to lead Post Office to a lopsided win over RCA. The final score was 117 to 36.

DEFRAUD CHARGED

By Princeton Golf Pro. Stan Dudas, golf pro at the Princeton Country Club, has filed a $23,700 suit in Superior Court charging the club and its contractor, James S. Norris, with intent to defraud him.

Mr. Dudas said that the contractor originally authorized him to buy $20,000 worth of golf equipment for the club shop. The figure, Mr. Dudas said, was later reduced to $12,000 with the stipulation that Mr. Norris was to repay the professional golfer after the club opened on May 31, 1964.

The suit alleges that Mr. Dudas, as a member in good standing of the Professional Golfers Association, purchased the equipment on credit, which the new club could not have done. The $12,000 worth of equipment was subsequently sold, Mr. Dudas charges, but the club has not repaid him.

The professional golfer, who said he left the club last November 20, claims that Mr. Norris and the club owners "knowingly misappropriated the money for their own benefit." He added that the club also owes him $11,700 in salary and fees.

BANTAMS TO PLAY

Against Westport Team. Princeton's Bantam All-Stars will play Westport in a hockey game at Baker Rink at 5 on Saturday.

Fred King will start at center and the wings will be Kit Raymond and John Andresen. John Claghorn and Keith Hereford will be on defense with Peter Samson in the goal.

The Pee Wee All-Stars recently defeated their counterparts from Yale at New Haven, 3-1. Fred Erdman scored two goals and Peter Browne got the third.

HUN UPSETS NEWARK

In Prep School Tourney. With Scott Page and Mike Miller—its one-two punch—combining for 48 points, the Hun School basketball team upset Newark Academy Saturday at the Peddie gym, 70 to 55, in the Group 3 New Jersey Independent Schools Basketball Tournament. Newark, defending champion, had ousted Hun last year in the opening round.

Following its victory, Hun was scheduled to meet Admiral Farragut Wednesday at Lawrenceville for the Group 3 championship.

Newark's chances were hurt when its leading scorer was sidelined with an injury and did not play. But Bob Simpson, Hun coach, reported, "The way we were playing and shooting, I doubt if Newark would have beaten us even if it had been at full strength."

Hun never trailed. It doubled Newark's scoring output in the first two quarters to take a 32-16 halftime lead. Then, in the third quarter, the Red and Black scored nearly three times as many points as the defending champions, 32 to 12, to win easily.

In all, eight Hun players got into the scoring column, besides Page and Miller. Mike Leon with 13 was the only one to hit double figures. Page has been averaging 20 points for Hun, Miller, 18.5.

The Screw Tightens. In another development, Hun's grip on the Penn-Jersey League crown slipped ever so slightly last week as Bryn Athyn defeated George School. Bryn Athyn, the only school that has a chance of taking the title from Hun, still has two games to play: another with George and one with Perkiomen.

Either is capable of upending Bryn Athyn, according to Simpson. If Bryn Athyn wins both, the title is theirs. If it splits, it will tie with Hun for

We were reading about the cactuslike plant, Aloe vera. This plant's drug derivatives were known by the ancient Greeks but only in late years has its power for healing burns, cuts and abrasions become known here. It can be grown indoors as a house plant, and when you get a burn or cut, you can cut open a stem, apply the juice directly to the spot. It quickly relieves pain and severity of the wound. Treated burns have been known to heal in half the usual time. An ointment known as Alo-Creme we understand is available in drugstores. Also, if you want to grow your own Aloe vera plant on your kitchen windowsill you can purchase a plant from a greenhouse. (If you cannot find it locally, we can give you the address where they are available.) Do you know where you can get terrific bargains with wonderful service? Right here! ASK REGIONAL SET-UP For Sewers, "In a few years, Lake Carnegie may be the biggest cesspool in New Jersey," stated Robert S. Shaw, chief public health engineer for the State Health Department at a meeting held Thursday to propose a regional sewerage authority.

As a result of the meeting, attended by more than 60 persons representing communities in the Stony Brook-Millstone watershed, a study committee will be appointed to investigate a possible regional approach to sewerage problems.

Mr. Shaw's remarks about Lake Carnegie were made to illustrate the way watershed streams are being polluted. Now is the time, Mr. Shaw said, "to get together and solve this pollution problem. If you join together now, it will be cheaper and more efficient for everyone."

Stony Brook rises in Hunterdon County and flows through the northern part of Mercer into the southern end of Lake Carnegie. The Millstone rises in Monmouth County and flows northwest between Hightstown and Cranbury, entering Lake Carnegie and flowing out of its northern end through Somerset to the Raritan.

Mr. Shaw pointed out that "this is land-hungry country with many small industrial and municipal sewage treatment plants going up.

Problems For All. To cure for its own needs, Princeton must expand its sewer plant on River Road and this might place a barrier between upper and lower Millstone communities. Pennington and Hopewell Boroughs now have acute problems and Pennington has been ordered by the State Health Department to construct a sewage treatment plant in order to control the pollution of small streams. A sewage bowling alley storm sewers and septic tank seepage. However, Pennington has not been able to obtain approval from Hopewell Township for construction of a treatment plant there. Pennington is in Hopewell Township.

Communities involved besides these, are East Windsor, South Brunswick, the Borough of Hopewell, West Windsor, Hightstown, Cranbury, Monroe Township, the Borough of Rocky Hill, Montgomery Township, Hillsborough Township, Franklin Township and the northeast part of Lawrence Township.

Princeton Borough and Township, is in favor of a regional solution to sewer problems, provided a regional set-up does not involve expansion of the Princeton plants beyond present plans and provided Princeton is not asked to lead the regional parade.

"We've been in favor of a regional approach for a long time," commented Township committeeman William Wilkinson, when the sewer meeting was discussed Monday night at Township Committee. "All our overtures to other municipalities have fallen through."

Township engineer Frank Quinby said that apparently smaller municipalities have started coming around to the regional idea. "A few years ago, you wouldn't have gotten as many as 60 people at a meeting like that," he observed.

TO PLAN NEW THEATRE At Washington Crossing Plans for a summer festival of the performing arts in Washington Crossing Park will be discussed at a meeting Thursday at 8:15 in the Hopewell Township Hall.

Slides of the new site of the outdoor theatre at the park will be shown. The public is invited to attend on Thursday and to participate in plans for the summer festival. The Washington Crossing Park Association is the sponsor.

SHEKELS & SESTERCES Coins On Exhibit. Coins minted in Biblical times are on display this week at the 370 Nassau Street office of the First National Bank. The exhibit moves to the Nassau Inn office, 40 Washington Road, on Monday.

The coins, issued by the powerful states around the Mediterranean Sea, range in date from 500 B. C. to 300 A. D. Among them are the Vespasian coins showing "Judea Capta," silver shekels, and the large silver coins of the city-states.

The exhibit shows, chronologically, the development of coinage from the days of Abraham when jewelry and lumps of precious metals were weighed in units, through the era of Christ to the days of Augustus and the Roman emperors who ruled in the time of the apostles.

POVERTY THE TOPIC Of Library Discussion. John Gardner's book "Self Renewal" and the question of the poverty cycle will be discussed at the next book review sponsored by the Princeton Public Library and Arts Council Center. The meeting will be held on Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. at the Center.

Raymond F. Male, State Commissioner of Labor and Industry, will preside. Leads the discussion, Mr. Male, currently on leave as the public administrator in residence at University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School, will review "Self Renewal."

Mrs. John C. Bullitt, wife of the director of New Jersey's Office of Economic Opportunity, will analyze "The Other America" by Michael Harrington. "The Culturally Deprived Child" by Frank Reissman will be reviewed by Dr. Lodwick Schwartz, a professor at Trenton State College. Questions the public is invited to attend the program.

ALL ABOARD! The Subject: Travel. A travel agent who has done on-the-spot research in each out of the way corners is Vagabond Travel and Leisure will share her findings with members of the Newcomers Club on Wednesday, March 10, at 12:30 at the YMCA.

Mrs. Carol Walker, president of the Fuller Travel Agency, will talk about European travel in general, and will answer specific questions from the audience. All women are invited to the area within 15 miles of Princeton, are invited to join The Newcomers Club.

PLANNER TO SPEAK At Women Voters Meeting. Dr. J. Douglas Carroll, executive director of the Tri-State Transportation Committee, will speak on regional planning on Tuesday at 8:15 in the Unitarian Church. The meeting will be sponsored by the Princeton League of Women Voters.

Dr. Carroll has served on the executive committee of the Highway Research Board and has directed traffic and transportation studies in four metropolitan areas. The Tri-State Transportation was formed in 1961 by the Governors of New Jersey, New York and Connecticut to study solutions for the region's transportation problems.

the championship, forcing a playoff.

Whatever the outcome, Hun has enjoyed a fine season. Currently, it is in first place in the Interscholastic Athletic Association Tournament. Playing at Westfield Tuesday evening in the first game of a double-header, PHS Lawrenceville will be defending the first Group 4 team in the state to capture an NJSIAA victory when it defeated Rahway, 73 to 65.

Coach Tony Borzoki's Little Red quintet (16-2) defeated Rahway (12-9) by outperforming the losers in every phase of the game. Tony quoted, "We rebounded, outplayed and outhustled the losers.

As a result, the Blue and White earned the chance to meet Cranford team Friday evening at the Westfield Tuesday evening in the finals of the competition increases in the tournament with demoralizing rapidity. Cranford will be highly favored—but no one should count out unpredictable PHS.

Led by the fiery Colin Leitch, who bounced back from a subpar performance in Princeton's finale Friday, PHS outscored Rahway in the first three periods. Leitch was the game's scoring honors with 25, but more near contributory to victory was his outstanding play off the boards.

Three other teammates hit double figures. Captain Pete Heiberger scored 19 points, Mike Underwood, 12, and Wayne Hines, 10. Tommy Wright treated from the layvee squad, added 6 more and turned in a creditable performance in this pressure contest.

Princeton started poorly, as Rahway grabbed a quick 6-0 lead. But the Little Tigers came back to take a 14-14 edge at the end of the first eight minutes of play. Then they tossed in eight straight points to start the second period. After this spurt, they never trailed.

SKATERS LOSE CHANCE For Revenge on Harvard, it was a dream team Tuesday night since Princeton has beaten Harvard twice in 17 and lost a day its a baker's dozen. For all of the first period and part of the second, Baker Rink, it looked as if the Tigers would whip the Crimson for the first time since 1953, but at 6:05 of the overtime round, they lost, 3 to 2.

Goals by Mike Peterman and Howard MacMorris got the Orange and Black off to a flying start. Peterman banged in a rebound and MacMorris deftly tapped there by Steve Cook at 13:16, and just seconds before the round ended, MacMorris lofted the puck past the Crimson goalie from ten feet out.

Hopes for a third straight victory were high, but they never materialized and eventually, proved unfounded. The visitors—far below normal with a 6-16 record—kept peppering away at goalie Graeme Stewart's net until they drew even at 16:58 of the second period. Shots on goal were even after two rounds, Flanders had only 15 saves and Welch of Harvard 14.

The third session was virtually even, the Tigers outshooting their opponents 20 to 7, but failing to wrap up the decision. Almost as soon as the overtime period began, it was apparent that Harvard's greater depth would make the difference.

The Tigers lost out on a post shot about three minutes after the whistle began, but the momentum was all Harvard's. At 3:35 to go, center Bailey Smith got his second goal of the night on a sharp shot from 25 feet out and the Tigers could do was hold the traditional sign, "Wait 'til next year."

ROWLING NOTES Dutch Neck Leads. Dutch Neck and Kingston switched places last week in the Lady Princeton Bowling League. Dutch Neck took over the top spot with 26 points, while Kingston slipped to second place with 24 points. Close behind were Mercer No. 3, Lawrenceville and Rocky Hill, 20 points, and Princeton No. 2 and Hopewell Ladder "L", tied with 18 each.

Norm Lueck combined games of 178, 203 and 176 for a high series of 585. Art Parr rolled 213, 154 and 212 for 579. Harry Kahny had a 571 series.

Bear Brook broke a first-place tie in the Kingston Lineup in the Nassau League, taking over sole possession of first place with 30 points. Tied for second with 28 were Nassau Liquor and Princeton Elks. Ties for third place also existed between the Reformers and Rotary Del, each having 24 points.

Twelve bowled single games of 200 or more last week by Hal Ianello's 226. Following were George Kirby, 206, Jim McGeehan, 217; DeWitt Boley, 213; and Dick Fowler and Otto Olsen, both 212.

Papp's Pro Shop retained second place in the Women's Classic League with 42½ points. P.R.C. was second with 39½ and Turney Motor third with 37½. Bud Cavanaugh was credited with the evening's high series total of 603, with games of 202, 192 and 210. High single games were rolled by Joe Baldino, 232, Bill Cavanaugh, 202, and Pros Aesch, Bender and Kaiser, each 193.

In the Business Women's League, a three-way tie for second place was created among Claridge Wine & Liquor, Maul electric and Irene's Day Nursery, all of 31 points. Top teams—N. J. Manni Real Estate, Princeton Motor, Motor Jefferson Plumbing and Thorne Pharmacy were third through fourth in that place with 16 points apiece. Alone at the top was Smith Bakery with 34.

High games were rolled by Carole Harris, 175, and Vera Bennie, 170.

The second week of the second half in the YMCA Blue Angels League saw the Sharks move into a tie for first place with the Tigers. The Sharks with 5 points now have first place "11 to Remember" while the Tigers share the runner-up position with Triple C. Each has 6 wins.

Top games in the league were rolled in competition by individual boys, were rolled by Curt Mitchell, 156, Craig Donald, 155, and Hal Rhubart, 152.

Obituaries

Charles H. LaTourette, 88, formerly of 96 Moore Street, died February 25 in Brook Lodge Nursing Home, Cranford. He was editor and publisher of the Princeton Packet from 1917 until 1955.

Born in Princeton, Mr. LaTourette was a self-educated, self-made man of many talents. His formal schooling ended with the sixth grade. He was a free-lance cartoonist, poet, short story writer and humorist. During his early career as a professional entertainer he composed his own songs, lyrics and dialogues.

When the Packet (formerly known as the Princeton Press) was about to go out of existence in 1917, Mr. LaTourette raised funds from several townspeople to purchase the weekly from the Princeton University Press. He became sole owner in 1921, and served as editor and publisher until 1955 when he sold the newspaper to Bernard Kilgore. For about a year thereafter, Mr. LaTourette continued as associate editor.

He began in 1918 an editorial page column, "Lookin 'Em Over with Latter," which he continued until he retired in 1956. A popular feature, the column was devoted to humorverse and opinion. He received an American Legion award for outstanding service from Princeton Post 76. Among the projects he advocated was a municipal swimming pool.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Forrest Blanchard of Cranford, and two grandchildren. His wife, the former Miss L. Drake, died in 1960. During their 42 years of marriage, Mrs. LaTourette had assisted him with her husband, and at one time published the newspaper herself while he was hospitalized. Mr. LaTourette moved to Cranbury shortly after her death.

The service was held at the Kimble Funeral Home, the Rev. Frank L. VanAuken of the Cranford Presbyterian Church officiating. Interment was in Greenwood Cemetery, Trenton.

Nelson W. Holcombe, 82, formerly of 17 Center Street, Hopewell, died February 24 in the Pine Acres Convalescent Home, Madison. He was the husband of the late Mrs. Annie B. Holcombe.

Born in Hopewell, Mr. Holcombe was employed by the Reading Railroad as a carpenter crew leader prior to his retirement.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Robert Wagner of Hopewell and Mrs. Arthur Koop of Basking Ridge, and four grandchildren.

Mr. Holcombe was held in Hopewell, the Rev. Robert A. Berringer of Hopewell Presbyterian Church officiating. Interment was in Highland Cemetery.

Miss Carolina A. Scharf, 55, of 319 Nassau Street died February 25 in Princeton Hospital after a brief illness.

Miss Scharf was assistant business manager at Princeton Hospital. Born in Princeton, she was a member of the hospital's bowling league and was treasurer of Trinity Church, Rocky Hill.

Surviving are two brothers, Paul B. Scharf and Henry K. Scharf, both of Princeton, and sisters, Mrs. Lincoln B. Dutcher of Boulder, Colo., and Mrs. Max Smith of Big Rapids, Mich., and several nieces and nephews.

The service was held at Trinity Church, Rocky Hill, the Rev. Robert N. Bentley officiating. Interment was in Highland Cemetery, Hopewell, under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Contributions may be sent to the Trinity Church Memorial Fund, Rocky Hill.

Eden L. Snook, 46, died suddenly February 25 at the home of his sister, Mrs. Lida Hair of 64 Hart Avenue, Hopewell, with whom he lived.

Mr. Snook, a veteran of World War II, was a painter at the R. W. Johnson-Propilatte In-

News Of The CHURCHES

LENTEN SERIES SET by Pastors' Association. Five Sunday evening Lenten services will be sponsored by the Princeton Pastors' Association at First Presbyterian Church. The Rev. John B. Paterson of First Church is coordinator.

Methodist, Episcopalian, Baptist, Presbyterian and Lutheran preachers will conduct the 8 p.m. services, assisted by Princeton pastors of the same denominational background. A special order of worship that seeks to incorporate features of the several traditions will be utilized.

The Rev. Henry Hildebrand of Mt. Zion AME Church, New Brunswick, will preach this Sunday, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Leon M. Gibson of Princeton Methodist Church.

Future services will be led by the Rev. Rowland Bee, episcopal chaplain at Princeton University; the Rev. Dr. Samuel D. Proctor of the National Council of Churches; the Rev. Gayraud Wilmore Jr., executive director of the commission on religion and race of the United Presbyterian Church, USA, and the Rev. Dr. E. T. Bachmann, executive secretary of the board of Theological Education, the Lutheran Church in America.

LUTHERANS PLAN SERIES "Substitutes For Faith". Mid-week Lentes worship will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesdays at Messiah Lutheran Church on the theme "Modern Substitutes for Faith."

The Rev. Harold Krull opens the series on Ash Wednesday. The topic of his meditation is "Revolt."

Future preachers and their topics are: Louis Accola, "Hedonism" (March 10); Byron Swanson, "Organizationalism" (March 17); Terrence Fretheim, "Patriotism" (March 24); George Madsen, "One-World-Ism" (March 31) and James Weis, "Relativism" (April 1).

BULLETIN NOTES

10th Anniversary. Calvary Baptist Church, which held its first service on March 6, 1955 in the chapel of Westminster Choir College, has organized a 10th Anniversary Observance Committee, headed by Mrs. H. Theodore Sorg. Other members of the planning group are Frederick J. Bauer, Dr. C. Howard Hopkins, Miles W. Lindenblad and Dr. Kenneth L. Maxwell.

Church Unity. Dr. Eugene L. Smith will discuss "The Ecumenical Movement and the Methodist Heritage" at 7 p.m. on Sunday, March 14, at Princeton Methodist Church. Dr. Smith, executive secretary of the World Council of Churches, was formerly general secretary of the Methodists' overseas mission program.

His talk is the third in the "University of Life" study program, held this year in conjunction with the 20th anniversary of the Wesley Foundation at Princeton University. Supper will be served at 6 p.m. at the church for members, students and guests.

Lenten Services Listed

Community Lenten services are scheduled at the following churches:

Thursday 12:10-12:25 p.m. in Miles Chapel of First Presbyterian Church: the Rev. Albert Tyson of Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. Church gives the meditation this Thursday; the Rev. Dr. Leon Gibson of Princeton Methodist is scheduled for Thursday, March 11. Luncheon served (65c) at the church 12:30 to 1 p.m.

Sunday - 8 p.m. at First Presbyterian Church, auspices of Princeton Pastors' Association. This Sunday the Rev. Henry Hildebrand of Mt. Zion A.M.E. Church, New Brunswick, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Leon Gibson of Princeton Methodist.

Hopewell - 8 p.m. on Wednesdays, sponsored by the Hopewell Council of Churches. The March 10 service will be conducted by the Rev. Curtis L. Hoffman of Calvary Baptist at the Hopewell Methodist Church.

German Theologian. The Rev. D. Werner Jeummel, professor of new Testament at the University of Marburg, will give a lecture on "Jesus and the Future" at 1:30 p.m. Thursday, March 11, in the campus center at Princeton Seminary. Dr. Jeummel, who succeeded famed Rudolph Bultmann at Marburg, is now on his second United States lecture tour. The public is welcome.

Privacy? William L. Wilson, former Township mayor, will speak on "The Private Side of Public Office" at the 8 a.m. breakfast on Sunday, March 14, to the men of the three Princeton Presbyterian Churches. Reservations should reach First Church, where the breakfast will be held, by Wednesday, March 10.

Hopewell Broadcast. The 8 a.m. Sunday services at Calvary Baptist Church, Hopewell, will be carried by Station WHWH during March. The theme for the Rev. Curtis L. Hoffman's sermons is "Beneath the Cross."

March 8 Tour. Mrs. Elmer Hornighausen of 117 Library Place is arrangements chairman for a tour on March 8 to area churches in New York City, planned by the Women's Association of First Presbyterian Church.

The women will visit the Good Shepherd Faith Presbyterian Church near Lincoln Center, Mt. Morris Presbyterian Church in the heart of Harlem, and Presbyterian Headquarters on Riverside Drive.

Unitarian Studies. A series of Monday evening Bible discussions begins this week at the Unitarian Church, under the direction of Edward Apgar, adult education chairman. The sessions are based on "The Dead Sea Scrolls" by A. Powell Davies and "A History of the Bible" by Fred B. Bratman.

The Rev. Robert L. Cope, pastor, will open the series with a lecture on the scrolls. Public is invited to the discussions, which begin at 8.30 p.m.

Evangelist. Special evangelist services will be held at Bunker Hill Lutheran Church, Griggstown, at 8 p.m. Tuesday through Friday of next week, and at 11 a.m. and 8 p.m. on Sunday, March 14. Pastor A. Storry of Staten Island will be the preacher. All are welcome.

Peace Corps. R. Terry Boehme will address the Women's Association of the Dutch Neck Presbyterian Church at 8 p.m. on Monday. A former Peace Corps member, now on the faculty at Princeton High School, he will discuss his experiences in Kudu, Nigeria.

Alliance Speaker. Dr. Robert W. Spike will discuss the United Church of Christ at an open meeting of the Church Council of Calvary Baptist Church, set for 6:15 p.m. this Sunday. Calvary Baptist, a member of the American Baptist Convention, is considering a second affiliation with the Church of Christ.

Dr. Spike, now executive secretary of the commission on religion and race for the National Council of Churches, was pastor of the Judson Memorial Baptist Church of Greenwich Village, N. Y., when that church adopted a dual affiliation.

REAL ESTATE
STATELY OCTOGENARIANS (reduced!)
We have two in the Western Section of the Borough which are, at their present prices, particularly interesting. Both are gracious and warmly personalitful, with high ceilings, nice woodwork and many charming touches of an earlier age.
Both are large enough for any family but condensible by shutting off third floor living quarters. One has superb conditions and spacious, secluded grounds; the other, a pool and most desirable location. Quite realistically priced at $80,000 and $95,000. Each is lovely. Only individual taste can choose between them.

CONVENIENT for the diligent commuter . . . here is a meticulously cared-for home in one of our pleasant neighboring communities. Nice view of fields and woods. Living room with fireplace, playroom, 3 bedrooms, 1½ baths. And when Summer comes (as it will!), you'll be delighted with the large, cool screened porch. $23,500

IN THE BOROUGH . . . here is a nice, cheerful 2-story home of excellent construction, and well laid-out indoors for comfortable family living. 3 bedrooms, 1 bath. Separate dining room. This is a very well-maintained property with a backyard full of flowering fruit trees. June occupancy. $29,900

COLONIAL . . . just west of the Township boundary, on a charming country lane with patches of woods all around, this handsome 4 bedroom, 2½ bath residence has living room with fireplace, separate dining room, a large kitchen, family room and a 3-car garage. $38,500

CLEVELAND LANE . . . here is one of the most beautiful properties in town — gorgeous shade trees in a lovely garden, and a little gem of a Colonial residence which is ideal for a small family or for a retired couple. 3 bedrooms, 2½ baths. There is also a large playroom, with bar, and a door leading to the terrace and the splendor of the outdoors. $62,500

WANT TO BUILD? . . . here is an opportunity which is not often available in Princeton Township — nice woods, 1½ acres, city water and sewer, ready and waiting for your architect to start his plans. $19,500

GRAND COLONIAL . . . your very first glimpse of this newly-built residence, sited among beautiful shade trees, on the slopes of what will soon be Princeton's most desirable residential community—Stuart Hill — will tell you that here is where you want to live. Standing on a terrace that will soon gleam with ivy and periwinkle, the house has a square entrance hall, with powder room near by, a very large living room with fireplace, separate dining room, library, a modern kitchen and laundry, and maid's room and bath on first floor. Second floor: 4 bedrooms, 2 baths. The house, of course, has everything that the niceties of modern living require, but the location is what sets it apart. Across the road is the new Stuart Country Day School — probably the outstanding school of its sort in this diocese. And nearby, just a short bike ride away, are the wonderful new Princeton Day Schools — a merger of Miss Fine's School and Princeton Country Day School, which are scheduled to open in 1965. This is your opportunity to be among the first to benefit from Princeton's new "campus concept" of country living. (sole agent) $75,000

DEAL DIRECT
- BELLBRIDE GAS CONTROL The combination Main Gas Control and Pressure Regulator maintains constant pressure for better burning. The Diaphragm Valve with aluminum body resists corrosion.
- EASILY ADJUSTABLE AIR-SHUTTER regulates the flow of air for efficient combustion.
- LOW INSTALLATION COST: The furnace unit is factory-wired and assembled. Will fit into a minimum amount of space, thus requiring little or no expenditure for special construction to house it.
- DURABLE "FUNPOINT" HEAT TRANSFER SECTIONS are made of corrosion resistant cast iron. High type of heat transfer means quick comfort. Covered by a ten year cast-iron warranty.
- SENSITIVE FAN AND LIMIT CONTROL starts and stops blower automatically and limits temperature to a safe range. The built-in transmit switch permits you to have air conditioner on your house without heating during warm days.
- DEPENDABLE SAFETY PILOT: This vital safety feature protects you against the dangers of possible flame failure.
- HEAT HOLDING INSULATION: The full-faced glass wool muffler sound and saves heat by reflecting it back into the unit.
- QUIET CAST-IRON BURNERS: The crossover slots in the new slotted-port burners insure instant ignition. These new burners are an inestimable feature and are self cleaning.
- QUIET BLOWER AND MOTOR are rubber cushioned to reduce vibration. The multi-vane centrifugal fan has extra large capacity. Fan speed is adjustable, and the entire assembly easily removed.
- FILTER-CLEAN AIR: Built in filter cuts dirt, pollen.
- HANDSOME, TWO-TONE GREY FINISH: Decorative cabinet of Gardenite Grey makes a neat, compact installation.
- THERMOSTAT CONTROL: Furnace operation is automatic and is controlled by the General Electric thermostat. You simply set it and forget it.

IN THE TWINKLING OF AN EYE

Someone with imagination (and a certain amount of fortitude) will recognize the vast possibilities of this nearby country "sleeper", and it will be snapped up. Don't miss out; let us show you what can be done. Here's what you'll have to work with: middle-aged white clapboard two-story with good lines, large living room with fireplace, dining room, kitchen, three bedrooms, and one bath; sound, small barn (room for two horses and a car), on just over two acres of high land with beautiful old shade trees. There's a lot of work to be done but we feel very worth considering at $23,500
